'I'M READY TO GO,' ASSERTS POLICE HEAD

"Job Isn't Worth a Man's Time, Anyway," Dawson Says

"I'LL BE GLAD TO GET OUT"

If Outsider is Made Chief, He'll Quit the Force

"They need not get after me; I'm ready to step down anytime."

Acting Chief of Police Morton F. Dawson made this statement, Thursday in referring to alleged charges against members of the police department, said to be in possession of Manager Bingham. His name is declared to be on the list.

"GLAD TO GET OUT"

"This job at $160 a month isn't worth a man's time. I'll be glad to get out."

Dawson said he will consider no offers to reduce him to the ranks. Neither a captaincy nor a detective's job will tempt him, he said. He proposes to get out of the department altogether in event Manager Bingham puts across his plan to bring in a man from the outside.

Dawson said the position is simply one in which a person is put up as a mark, to be shot at ceaselessly. It is attended by too many controversies and too much warfare, he says.

TOO MUCH CRITICISM
"I have been across the continent twice and have worked in many cities, but Lima is the first in my experience where the police department is continuously attacked by the newspapers."

Dawson made no reference to the alleged charges in the manager's possession. He made no effort to deny that there could be anything of the kind.

WIFE, CAR, MONEY IN FADEAWAY

H. E. Thacker Lays His Marital Troubles to Relatives

If E. Thacker, 133 N. Jackson-st., received a terrific jolt Wednesday night, he reported to police Thursday morning. His Willys-Knight auto, license 107,865, valued at $1365, and $765 in money was stolen, he said, and he also believes a brother-in-law spirited away his wife, Elaine Thacker.

The man rushed excitedly into criminal court Thursday morning and poured out his story, alleging his brother-in-law, William Carson, and two other relatives, Ethel Phillips and John Scott, Jr., came to his home Wednesday for a visit and conspired to wreck his home while he was absent.

MONEY IS MISSING
He charged that the relatives and his wife left while he was attending to his duties as a journal distributor. When he returned in the evening, he thought at first they had gone for a joy ride and did not think anything of it until Thursday morning. Then he arrived at the conclusion they had left for good. An investigation of the house disclosed $765 in money missing, Thacker said.

Thacker hurried to police station and swore out warrants for the arrest of the quartet. He was unable to inform police where they had gone, but left a list of possible cities, including Columbus. Lines were cast out by the police.

According to Thacker's story in criminal court, the relatives were unbidden guests in his home. He invited at family warfare, and slanted there has been plotting against him. He ordered the three relatives out of the house, he said.

The man did not mention where they came from, according to Judge Kenneth Jackson.

Warrants charge that Carson and Scott took the machine and that the two women made away with the money.

MURDERED

Wilbur Leroy Shelton, American missionary and explorer, famous as the only man ever allowed to establish a mission in Tibet, was killed last month by bandits near Batang, southwest China, according to news just received in this country.

ROUTE OF HARDING TRIP GUARDED

Pilot Train Runs Ahead of President's Special

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, MARCH 9.—(Associated Press) — Refreshed by a good night's rest, President Harding was looking forward enthusiastically to the first day of his vacation when he arose this morning aboard the special train which is carrying the executive and his party to Florida for a week's rest and relaxation. Since leaving Washington yesterday, the special has made good time and early today was skirting the lower South Carolina coast. It is scheduled to arrive at St. Augustine, which will be the president's headquarters, late this afternoon. The run thru Virginia and the Carolinas has so far been without incident.

President Harding and the members of his party, which in addition to Mrs. Harding, Secretary Christian and Brigadier General Sawyer, his personal physician, includes Attorney General Daugherty, Speaker Gillett of the house, and Under Secretary of State Fletcher, all appeared to be enjoying the trip immensely.

While his vacation plans for the week had not been announced early today, it was understood Mr. Harding might take a trip down the Florida coast of several days as the guest of Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post, on the latter's houseboat.

Elaborate precautions are being taken by the Atlantic Coast line railroad officials to protect the special train on which the president is traveling. Every yard of track is being inspected by a pilot train running ahead of the special, with the general road master of the line riding on the rear of the pilot to make the inspection. No train is permitted to be operated or any switch turned in the track between the special and pilot train. Picked crews of conductors and trainmen are operating the special and the general road foreman of engines is riding on the engine cab. One of the last things attended to by President Harding before leaving Washington yesterday was the payment of his income tax. His check included $13,000 as income tax on the presidential salary.

MRS. OBENCHAIN TELLS STORY

Takes Witness Stand in Her Own Defense

TRIED BREAK WITH KENNEDY

Broker Refused to Return Letters, Tho, She Says

LOS ANGELES — (Associated Press) — The story of Madalynne Connor Obenchain of Chicago, which she said she had waited seven months to tell, concerning J. Belton Kennedy, local broker for whose murder she is on trial here, began today when she was called to the stand as a witness in her own defense.

She smiled at the clerk as she was sworn as a witness. Her opening testimony was that she had been in the county jail for seven months, since the morning of August 6, last, when she was arrested following the shooting of Kennedy at his Beverly Glenn bungalow. She said that she was not allowed access to her letters or property since that time.

WITNESS PALE

She was pale and spoke quite low, altho appearing composed and not hesitating in her answers to questions. Her eyes were on the jurors most of the time.

Saying that she kept a diary of her activities in 1921, she referred to it frequently to refresh her memory. "I arrived in Los Angeles January 7, 1921," she said. "I did not meet Mr. Kennedy for some time altho I saw him once or twice on the street. On January 14, I telephoned to him asking that he return my letters. He refused to return them until I consented to see him."

"I refused to see him. On my second telephone conversation, January 24, he said he would never return them unless I saw him that night. I consented to see him that night and waited for some time in the street and then saw him approach, accompanied by his father. We talked for some two hours."

MEETING WITH KENNEDY

Referring to her diary for the dates, which were three or four days after this meeting with Kennedy, she testified that she had meetings with Kennedy. She continually asked him for the return of her letters, saying that she "wanted everything ended, believing that that would make it happier for everybody."

Kennedy wanted to continue their associations, pleading with her "to bear with" him further. Kennedy told her that owing to his mother's illness, he could not do that which his "heart asked" him to do, she testified. On one occasion she said, Kennedy followed her in a taxicab and on others waited for her outside of her abode.

THREE DIE IN FIRE

Four City Blocks Destroyed at Cheboygan, Mich.

CHEBOYGAN, MICH. — (Associated Press) — Business interests of Cheboygan today were considering plans to rebuild the city's business district, four blocks of which was destroyed by fire yesterday.

While these plans were under consideration, city firemen continued to dig among the embers in search of the bodies of two missing boys. The known dead still stood at three, a man and two boys, whose bodies were recovered late yesterday.

A representative of the state department of health at Lansing was on the way here today to offer state aid if that is deemed necessary. State troops from Gaylord are aiding local authorities in maintaining order. More troops will be sent if needed, it was announced at Lansing. The loss in the fire is estimated at more than $500,000.

WEATHER REPORT TO BE BROADCAST BY RADIO

CHICAGO — The local weather bureau is completing plans for the broadcasting of weather reports by radio. The service is expected to start within a day or two and, like the Chicago board of trade daily, it will be sent from the Kyr station on a 360 meter wave length which is expected to reach a 200 mile radius.

NEW YORK — (United Press) — Modern methods must be used in fighting the 1922 model shimmy-shaking devil. You can't combat the up-to-date Satan who shakes a wicked knee in the dance floor, with the weapons our grandfathers used against the old-fashioned "one breath" Mephisto. This is the answer of Dr. John Roach Stratton, famous reformer, to Dr. Robert Stuart McArthur, who quit Calvary Baptist church, which he founded, because he couldn't stand Stratton's sensational style. Dr. Stratton will preach next Sunday on the subject of Dr. McArthur's resignation from the church. No longer does the devil wiggle a wicked forked tail, but now he shakes a shimmying shoulder Stratton declared.

"The devil today is no longer the bold, brazen devil of years ago. The

DEBUTS IN NEW YORK CUT TO $15,000

MISS ELIN MACKAY (ABOVE) WHOSE DEBUT COST $20,000, EXCLUSIVE OF GOWNS AND JEWELRY, AND MISS BARBARA WHITNEY, WHOSE COMING OUT PARTY COST $15,000.

NEW YORK — (Special) — Another blow has been struck at the high cost of living. There has been a reduction of 25 per cent or more in the cost of "coming out" parties in New York society!

Prohibition did it. A society debut that cost $20,000 in the era of liquor was served can be done handsomely these days for a mere $15,000. That's what hotel men say.

Society's season just closed in New York saw 30 rich debutantes introduced. Each party cost between $8000 and $12,000, not including clothes and jewels and the supplementary dinners, suppers and luncheons necessary to a correct coming out.

The most brilliant party of the season cost $20,000. That's the bill Clarence H. Mackey footed when his daughter, Miss Elin Mackey, was introduced. There were 40 guests at dinner and nearly 2000 at the dance and supper following. The party was given at the Ritz-Carlton. Estimates of the probable itemized bill are these:

Dinner	$ 800
Supper	4,700
Floral decorations	8,000
Music	1,000
Favors and incidentals	1,000
Rent of hotel	1,500

Next in brilliance and costliness was the debut of Miss Barbara Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney. This party, given at the Plaza, is understood to have cost about $15,000. There were 1000 guests.

Dinners served at the average coming out party cost from $5 to $12 a plate. Breakfasts and suppers are somewhat less.

FORM DRY NAVY

Fleet is Mobilized to Chare Rum Smugglers

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Formation of a prohibition "navy" for combating rum runners along the Florida coast has the approval of Secretary Mellon, it was stated today at the treasury.

Mobilization of the prohibition fleet is proceeding rapidly. A coast guard officer has been made liaison official between the coast guard service and prohibition headquarters for perfecting the plans for the use of sub chasers.

NEW YORK — (United Press) — After setting the air brakes on a New York Central freight train, as it entered the yard at Forks, eight miles east of here, bandits today robbed the cars and train crew. Later three men were taken into custody by the New York Central police.

M. J. Welch, assistant superintendent of the New York Central, said it was believed the loot had been recovered.

WOMAN, WARNED, LEAVES TOWN

California Ku Klux Klan Probes Threatening Letters

LOS ANGELES — (Associated Press) — William S. Coburn, Los Angeles attorney, Grand Goblin of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, announced today to soon would go to Kern-co, California, to investigate troubles there attributed by some to the Ku Klux Klan and to expose those who are breaking laws and hiding behind the Ku Klux organization.

"I am tired of this bunk and I am going to stop it," he said. "We have over 1000 men in Kern-co, and I am going there within the next few days and will personally conduct a campaign to turn up the evil doers."

Mr. Coburn said three men had left town shortly after members of the Klan had discovered they had been sending threatening notes signed "K. K. K."

Seven persons in Bakersfield have received warning or threatening letters within the last day or two, the police announced today.

Mrs. Mary Barnes, 35, proprietress of a rooming house in Fresno, is reported to have been given 24 hours to close up and leave town. She is reported to have left.

TRAIN IS ROBBED

New York Central Crew Held Up By Bandits

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (United Press) — After setting the air brakes on a New York Central freight train, as it entered the yard at Forks, eight miles east of here, bandits today robbed the cars and train crew. Later three men were taken into custody by the New York Central police.

M. J. Welch, assistant superintendent of the New York Central, said it was believed the loot had been recovered.

NEW MOVE BY LIMA SLAYER?

Unconfirmed Report that Counsel for Nierengarten Offers to Change Plea, With Understanding Sentence Will be Life Imprisonment

Counsel and Court In Parley Half Hour at Wapakoneta, But Result Is Not Announced—Case Resumed as Fireman Goes on Stand

WAPAKONETA — (Staff Special) — Rumors afloat thruout the courtroom here all forenoon Thursday that counsel for Harold Nierengarten, on trial for the slaying of Joseph Scott Kershaw, had offered a proposition of changing the alleged murderer's plea to guilty with the understanding that the penalty should be life imprisonment, could not be verified.

CASE IS HALTED FOR PARLEY BY COUNSEL

Promptly as court opened, Judge C. A. Stueve, attorney for Nierengarten, asked for a conference with Prosecutor Karl Timmermeister and Judge Joseph Barnes, presiding. The three men went into secret conference, but the purpose or outcome was not announced. The case proceeded, but the room was filled with talk concerning the alleged proposition by Stueve.

Counsel and the court returned to the court room at 10 a. m., after an absence of half an hour.

Court session was resumed, the jury was called in and the first witness of the morning was placed on the stand.

FIREMAN TESTIFIES

Merrill Miller, fireman on the locomotive hauling the train on which Scotty Kershaw was killed on November 20, testified that while the train was running at a speed of 25 to 30 miles an hour, thru Wapakoneta, he saw a man jump from a box car, on the east side of the track, fall to his hands and knees, scramble to his feet and start back toward Wapakoneta. This incident occurred south of the city, Miller said.

Miller stated that the train passed thru Wapakoneta about 1:25 or 1:30 p. m.

Further testimony by Miller was of an unimportant character affecting the operation of the train.

CAR IS INDICATED

Leonard McDowell, yard clerk for the B. & O. Railroad company in Lima, identified copy of a wheel report, made on Sunday, November 20, showing that the car in which Kershaw was killed was the 23rd from the locomotive and that it was empty. The train was made up of 53 cars and left Lima at 12:15 p. m., McDowell said.

Miss Esther Stoll, telephone operator at the Criderville exchange, located on the second floor of a building near the B. & O. tracks, said she saw two men in a box car of the freight train that passed thru Criderville about noon, 20th, but that neither were an overcoat, according to her recollection. Both doors of the car were open, she remembered. One of the men stood near the door. She also saw four or five boys on a car farther back, near the end of the train.

SAW MEN IN CAR

Miss Stoll said she thought the train was running at about 50 miles an hour when Judge Stueve asked her if it was going as fast as lightning, the witness said she didn't think it was. There was a general laugh thruout the court room over this. The prisoner joined in and laughed heartily. Miss Stoll said she recalled the date of the incident as being Sunday, November 20, by reading about the murder later.

Charles Randaugh, Criderville, said he resides one-fourth mile south of Criderville, near the railroad track; that on Sunday, November 20, while he was at the rear of his home, a freight train passed southward on the B. & O. between 1 and 1:30 p. m., and that he heard two shots, in quick succession. At first, he said, he thought they were torpedoes. There was a general laugh when Randaugh was asked how he knew it was Sunday. "I work on every other day of the week," the witness said.

Randaugh said he had resided near Criderville for 30 years. He thought the train was running at a speed of about 37 miles an hour.

HEARD FOUR SHOTS

At 11:10 a. m. J. A. Bowsher, 55, residing near Criderville, was placed on the stand. He testified he heard four shots as the train passed. He was more than a mile away, he said, and did not see the train, but heard its rumbling and also heard the shots. The time was between 12:30 and 1 p. m., Sunday, November 20, he said. Two shots were fired in rapid succession, and a little later there were two more reports of a gun, the witness stated. He also thought at first they were railroad torpedo explosions.

Court adjourned at 11:30 a. m., for the noon recess.

REPORT IS DENIED

At the noon recess, when Judge Barnes and counsel for the state and the defense were queried concerning the reported offer by Judge Stueve that his client plead guilty and be given a life sentence, instead of death in the electric chair, denial was made.

Judge Barnes said: "I think not. At least I would not care to say so now."

Prosecutor Timmermeister: "I don't know."

Judge C. A. Stueve: "No." At 1 p. m. William Kayser, former Wapakoneta druggist and weather observer, was placed on the stand. He testified that on November 20, 1921, the maximum temperature was 42 and the minimum 22. At 6 p. m. the set temperature was 42. The wind was from the south and there was a frost that night, Kayser stated.

Dr. Lester C. Pepper, coroner of Shelby-co, told of the finding of the body in the freight car, its removal and the attempts made at identification. The body was lying in the south end of the car. There were two wounds in the chest and one in the head, Pepper said. The bullets entered from the back.

Pockets of the dead man's clothing were turned wrong side out. On a package of cigarettes was found. The bullets that killed Kershaw were displayed in evidence.

The crowd in attendance upon the trial Thursday morning was smaller than at any time since the opening of the fight for Nierengarten's life. About 350 were present.

Judge C. A. Stueve, counsel for the defense, was not prepared to say Thursday whether he would place the prisoner on the stand in his own behalf.

Two Lima youths may prove an important factor in the final issue, which will decide whether Nierengarten will go to the electric chair.

The lads, Arnold Decker, 17, and Clyde Pugh, also 17, were placed on the witness stand Wednesday afternoon and given a grilling by the state and the defense. Both testified they boarded the freight car occupied by Nierengarten and Kershaw the day of the murder, but were ordered off the car by Nierengarten, who displayed a detective badge.

ORDERED OUT OF CAR
Young Decker was first put on the stand. He told the prosecution that his occupation was "loading." He testified that on the day Kershaw was murdered, he and his pal, Clyde Pugh, boarded a B. & O. freight train going south shortly after dinner. He did not remember the exact time, but said it was probably about 12:30 or thereabouts. He declared that immediately after he and his pal had climbed into the car they were confronted by a man (this man was later identified by the boys as Nierengarten) who flashed a detective badge, told them he was a detective who was watching the train for some thieves who had pulled a job in Fort Wayne, Ind.

"I know you - aren't the men," Decker said Nierengarten told him, "but you'll have to get off this train, both of you."

Decker said he and his pal replied: "Alright, thank you," thinking that the man was a detective and had a right to give such an order. They jumped off. By this time the train was going at a fairly good speed, he

INDIA'S DEMANDS STIR LONDON

Restoration of the Ottoman Empire Included in List

ALSO BRITISH EVACUATION

Commons May Adjourn to Debate the Situation

(BULLETIN) — (United Press) — London. — (United Press) — The house of commons will probably adjourn this evening to debate the situation created by unprecedented public recommendations on the part of the government of India, relating to Turkey and revision of the Sevres treaty.

The Indian government has recommended British evacuation of Constantinople, suzerainty of the sultan over the Holy places and restoration of the Ottoman empire of Thrace, including Adrianople and Smyrna.

The object of these recommendations, which were made in a dispatch from Lord Reading, viceroy of India, to Edwin S. Montagu, secretary of state for India, is to mollify Mohammedan feeling in the Near East.

The Indian demands have already caused the greatest embarrassment to the British government and will do so in view of the allied conference on Near East matters, which is to meet in Paris March 22.

Today's press makes a sensation of the demands. It is felt that Lord Reading has taken a grave and serious step—in most quarters it is held to be an improper one, in making recommendations for revision of the Sevres treaty at this time.

The British administration in India, however, has not taken this step except after consultation with native leaders and it constitutes official recognition of growing disaffection among the Mohammedan element of India's population and the restlessness which has spread to state troops.

Lord Reading's note says that this action is taken on the eve of the Near East conference with a purpose of emphasizing the intensity of feeling in India regarding necessity for revision of the Sevres treaty in which Turkey was severely treated.

The viceroy points out that Moslem troops fought under the British flag against Turkey with the understanding that Great Britain would keep her promise not to weaken the Sultan's position when peace was made. This promise, the Moslems declare, has been broken and their supreme ruler reduced to an ignominious position.

The message which is the most formal and direct communication ever received here from the Indian government on this question, has caused a tremendous sensation. It is almost unprecedented for a native population under British rule to have its religious prejudices regarding another country recognized by the local British government in this way and urged upon the home government. Two Turkish foreign ministers representing the Constantinople and Ankara governments are expected in London this week, to present their claims.

SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT LIMA NEWS TO GET IDEAS

Children of the Sixth grade, Faunt school, who are preparing a small Easter publication, visited The Lima News office Thursday afternoon, accompanied by Miss Edith Matheuer, principal of that school.

The children wanted ideas concerning the publication of a newspaper. They were shown thru all the departments of The News and were amazed at the great amount of work connected with preparing and printing one edition of this newspaper. One little girl summed it up this way:

"I don't see how they can sell a paper for three cents when it takes so much work to get it out."

YOUTH MAY CHANGE PLEA

Unconfirmed Rumor of New Move in Nierengarten Case

COUNSEL HOLD CONFERENCE

Damaging Testimony Given by Two Lima Boys

told Judge Stueve who had taken up the questioning for the defense and they were south of the Locomotive Works when they jumped off.

Prosecutor Timmermeister again took up the questioning. He asked the lad, producing the coats alleged to have been worn by Nierengarten and Kershaw the fatal day, whether, in his belief, the coats were the ones worn by the two who said they were detectives. Decker recognized one, that it was worn by Nierengarten, but the lad could not remember exactly about the other.

"I could not see the other man very plainly," he stated. "He was standing in a corner and it was dark. The man with the badge did all the talking."

HATS ARE IDENTIFIED

Prosecutor Timmermeister then displayed the two hats said to have been worn by Nierengarten and Kershaw.

"Are these the hats worn by the two 'detectives' in the car when you boarded it?" he asked.

After a short examination, Decker testified that they were.

Judge Stueve asked Decker how long he was in the car. He was informed "about five minutes," whereupon counsel for the defense took out a watch and told Decker to tell his story, word for word, from the minute he and his pal entered the car. The story was repeated.

"It took you 30 seconds to tell this story which you told me consumed five minutes," Judge Stueve announced after the boy had ended his story.

The defense then questioned Decker as to whether he had ever been in the reformatory or juvenile court. He replied in the negative.

When asked why he had kept this story a secret ever since last November, not telling it until Monday, Decker said that he "didn't want to be in a court case."

Clyde Pugh, 17, the second lad in the case, was then called. He said he was a riveter and resides in Lima, at 122 Lafayette-st.

His story was an exact duplicate of the one related by Decker. He, too, identified one coat and hat as the clothing worn by one of the "detectives" who did the talking after he climbed into the car. "The other he was not sure of, because he said the other man 'stood in a dark corner of the freight car.'"

Pugh said he and Decker had planned to beat their way to Cincinnati.

NIERENGARTEN WORE BADGE

The detective badge was shown him. He identified it as the one. He here the inscription "Ohio Detective Bureau."

When asked if he could pick out the man who wore the badge, Pugh looked around until his eyes rested on Nierengarten.

"That is the man," he declared, nodding his head at the defendant.

"Which one?" asked Judge Stueve. "For heaven's sake don't identify the wrong one."

As the counsel for the defense laughed a little at his remark, Nierengarten smiled broadly, while a wave of laughter swept thru the court room.

Pugh half-pointed to Nierengarten, repeating his first statement, "that was the man." Previously, when Decker had been on the stand, the defendant had been identified as the man with the badge in a similar manner.

Nierengarten smiled several times during the testimony of the lad. Defendant's counsel asked Pugh if he had ever been in the reformatory, to which Pugh replied: "I got my first time to be in the reformatory."

Judge Stueve evidently misunderstood him, thinking he had been in the reformatory once.

"So you have been in the reformatory once?" he said.

Pugh hastened to assure him he had not repeating his denial, while the crowd laughed and Nierengarten broke into a grin.

The defendant smiled again when Judge Stueve asked if he was afraid of the "detective" in the freight car.

"Yes, after I saw his badge," Pugh replied.

Counsel for the defense had Pugh repeat his story and timed him.

"It took you just 40 seconds to

SIDELIGHTS ON MURDER TRIAL

WAPAKONETA — (Staff Special) — The crowd attending Auglaize-co's biggest court event in years, the Nierengarten murder trial, continues to grow as the trial progresses on its fourth day. It was conservatively estimated that over 500 were in attendance Wednesday and around 350 Tuesday.

Joe Sells, janitor at the court house, is going to be a thankful man when it's all over. "It keeps me busy picking up sacks they have brought their meals in and scraps of food they leave lying around," laments Joe. Sells says he finds debris all over the building.

Another thing that is bothering the janitor is the early arrival of those who seek seats in the court room. "I opened up at 5:30 Wednesday morning," Sells declared, "and people were waiting for me then. I can't get up much earlier and get any sleep."

The trial dragged slowly Wednesday afternoon and the crowd plainly showed its disapproval by making considerable noise. Sheriff Ewing and the court several times rapped for order.

One woman, in a mass of shoving humanity in the rear of the court room, almost fainted Wednesday. She was rushed outside where she quickly recovered.

One man, Wednesday, decided to be a regular philanthropist during the noon luncheon hour. He procured a pint jar and made a number of trips to a water source so that others who did not want to leave their seats, for fear they would not get them back, could have something to quench their thirst. Apples, oranges, bottles of pop and light lunches were made away with by the hungry hundreds who stuck to their chairs.

Nierengarten on Wednesday, particularly in the afternoon, appeared more cheerful, smiling considerably and talking with his sisters and brother. He seldom talked to his counsel, who was at his side constantly. A few sticks of gum lay spread before him on the long table around which the chairs are grouped. He chewed gum incessantly.

The trial is not keeping the defendant from eating and enjoying good meals. "He eats heartily," Sheriff Bob Ewing declares, "and also appears to sleep well."

about 60 feet off and that one of them had a rather light hat, the other a dark hat and overcoat with a fur collar. Here the state again introduced the clothing of Kershaw and Nierengarten. The brakeman said he believed the clothes were the same worn by the two men who boarded his train.

"The freight car they climbed into was about the eighteenth one back from the engine," he stated. "We had 15 cars."

Walker said the first stop was made a short distance from Lima and that he walked past the car in which the two men were riding. He said he heard a conversation going on, but could not tell what it was about. He said the train did not stop at Wapakoneta, but he noticed a man jump out of the freight car, fall on his hands and knees and start to walk back to Wapakoneta.

The freight stopped at Sidney, he said, when he began the customary inspection of the cars. When he looked in the car which the two men had entered at Lima he noticed a hat on the floor. Closer inspection disclosed the body of a man, further back in the car. Walker said he went up and notified the engineer, who pulled the train up to the main street in Sidney while a watchman in the town went for the police.

The body was that of Joseph Scott Kershaw.

Arnold Decker and Clyde Pugh, the two youths mentioned previously, were again placed on the stand. Their testimony, as related above, continuing until court adjourned at 5:15 p. m.

WIDOW PATHETIC COURT FIGURE

Mrs. Jeanne Kershaw Affected by Details of Murder.

BECOMES NEAR - HYSTERICAL

Sobs Produced by Sight of Blood Stained Clothing

WAPAKONETA — (Staff Special) — By far the most pathetic figure in the Nierengarten murder trial, which has all of Auglaize-co in its grip, is Mrs. Jeanne Kershaw, widow of the slain man, Joseph Scott Kershaw.

Every day, as the trial progresses, Mrs. Kershaw seems to be more affected. Wednesday afternoon she arose suddenly from her seat and left the court room while the trial was in progress about 3 p. m. and did not return, all of the testimony continued until 5:15 p. m. She appeared to be suffering from violent head pains.

AFFECTED BY SIGHT

Frequently during the trial she breaks down and cries, particularly when the blood-stained clothes of her husband, taken from his body after he had been murdered November 20, 1921, are introduced for witnesses to identify.

Mrs. Kershaw sits about 15 feet from the witness stand, facing the stand and cannot avoid seeing the clothing when Prosecutor Timmermeister brings them out of a long box, for identification.

The sight of them produces a near-hysterical affect on the widow of the murdered man. She twitches nervously, throws her head back against the back of her chair and breaks into tears.

She talks very seldom. At times, P. A. Kershaw, father of "Scottie" or Mrs. Helen Kershaw, sister of the slain youth, holds her hands and comfort her. The three make a pathetic little group.

There is no doubt that Mrs. Kershaw is taking the trial more to heart than any other person in the court room. Very seldom she smiles and when she does it is thru tear-dimmed eyes.

Her eyes never turn toward the opposite side of the table, just five feet away, where sits Harold Nierengarten, the youth who is charged with the murder of her husband. Frequently Nierengarten will pass a fleeting look at her, however, as she sits huddled up, a dejected figure, in her chair.

SOLUTION: Dip finger in water and let a few drops down on the angle of the bent match. The match will tend to straighten from the moisture and the coin will fall thru.

HUNT VIOLATORS OF DOG LAW

Sheriff Baxter Turns Loose Corps of Deputies

Look after dogs and roads!

That is the admonition Sheriff Charles W. Baxter gave his four deputies when he started them out Thursday on the hunt of offenders who cut up the county highways by use of narrow tires on wheels of their trucks and machines.

And, incidentally, the deputies are ordered to see how many dogs they can find that are harbored which do not possess dog tags.

Poor old Rover will not suffer. But his owner will be haled into court, made to purchase a tag and pay a fine in keeping with the offense, for not providing the dog a tag January 1.

Baxter figures there are several thousand dogs running at large that have not been provided with licenses.

SEEK VIOLATORS OF ROAD LAW

Deputy Sheriffs Scour Country in Touring Cars

Allen-co commissioners are hot on the trail of offenders who cut up the roads and highways of the county.

Four automobiles, bearing deputy sheriffs, were sent out Thursday in an endeavor to bring in all offenders. Sheriff Baxter says it is the object to give them the limit, under the law.

The section of law which governs state and county highways declares that tires at least three inches wide must be used in transporting 300 pounds of material over any road.

"The roads at these seasons of the year are just breaking up and are soft," John W. Thompson, county commissioner, said. "A few wagons passing over them with narrow tires and heavy loads at this season will do more to impair them than all the money commissioners can spend to put them in order within a year will remedy."

The campaign against offenders will be continued and arrests made, if necessary," Thompson declared.

The three hundred pounds to be carried includes weight of both truck and load.

MARY BRUNETTE IS A BRIDE

Daughter of Slayer of Verardo Married to Sam Ingrassia

Mary Brunette, 16, daughter of Angelo Brunette, 414 Lake-st is married.

Return received at the probate court office Thursday was to the effect William H. Guyton, justice of the peace, married Mary to Sam Ingrassia, 27, tailor, 815 S. Main-st, Tuesday.

The couple secured their license Monday. It was during a verbal encounter over Mary that her father shot and killed Rosario Verardo, Italian, an anti. The father declares the Italian was attempting to spirit away his daughter.

Brunette is in the county jail, awaiting action of the next grand jury. While occupying a cell there Monday, he signed documents which gave consent to the marriage of his daughter.

Ingrassia declared he was marrying the girl to give her support in the court trial of her father and to aid the family financially while the husband and bread-winner was awaiting work of the law.

Both Verardo and Ingrassia were boarders at the Brunette home at the time of the tragedy. Ingrassia and his wife will reside at 815 S. Main-st.

DEMAND IS MADE FOR SERVICE

C. C. Trustees Adopt Resolution on Light, Power Question

O. E. MUST ACT QUICKLY

Propose Franchise in Favor of Western Ohio Company

Request that the city commission grant the application of the Western Ohio Electric company to sell light and power in Lima, provided the Ohio Electric does not sell or improve its plant within 60 days, is contained in a resolution passed by the Chamber of Commerce directors at the Lima Club, Thursday.

The resolution states that conditions have been unsatisfactory for a number of years and the public is entitled to relief of some sort.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

The resolution, which was presented to the city commission Thursday, reads:

"Be it resolved, that in event no sale of the Ohio Electric company's power plant, city traction line and accompanying franchises be made within 60 days from date or no plan for expansion, improvement and financing of the same to raise it to a satisfactory standard, be placed before the city commission by the city engineer, specifying the exact date upon which such expansion shall start, that the city commission give immediate consideration to the request of the Western Ohio Electric Railway company for the right to serve light and power within the city of Lima and relieve the public of the unsatisfactory condition that has existed for several years past."

On February 15, J. H. McCune, former vice-president of the Ohio Electric, told Chamber of Commerce officials here that either this company will sell or will undertake to bring service up to a satisfactory standard, in 60 days.

The Chamber of Commerce passed the resolution, with the desire to speed up affairs.

MORE POWER KEPT

New industries coming here, they say, need the assurance of adequate power. Existing industries are handicapped. The service in homes and business places is so uncertain Johnson says, that the public is never sure when the lights will not go off.

The Western Ohio has expressed a desire to serve Lima with power and light. Formerly the Ohio Electric purchased current from their plant, but is not doing so now.

The directors recommend their resolution to the city commission for consideration.

Harold Cunningham, as president of the city commission, declined to comment on the resolution presented by the Chamber of Commerce.

Manager C. A. Bingham was not at the City Building Thursday, employees said, and his opinion could not be obtained.

He beat the train to the crossing a good many times

"It's never touched me yet," he explained when they pointed out the risks.

That's the answer a good many people make when they hear that the drug element in tea and coffee often harms nerves and health. They say it's never touched them yet.

Sometimes they only think it hasn't.

Wakeful nights, drowsy days, headaches that keep coming more frequently—often are blamed on bad luck when the blame belongs on bad judgment in taking needless chances with harm.

Over on the safe side is Postum, a pure cereal beverage, delicious and satisfying—containing nothing that can harm nerves or digestion. Thousands who used to try their luck with tea or coffee are enthusiastic over having found safety and satisfaction in Postum.

It's worth your while to make the test with Postum for ten days. Postum is a delightful drink for any member of the family, at any meal.

Your grocer has both forms of Postum: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water; Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

OHIOANS IN SNUG FEDERAL JOBS

32 Profit As Result of Election of Harding

ONE LIMA MAN IS NAMED

Host of Other Buckeyes Given Minor Places

One year of administration of Warren G. Harding as President of the United States has been profitable for Ohio politicians, among them one Lima man, or rather formerly of Lima. George Beaumont, well known locally, is holding a position as United States Marshal in Alaska.

Exclusive of the appointments within the state for regular state patronage jobs, the first year of Harding shows 32 Ohioans in worthwhile places on the federal payroll, as follows:

OHIOANS "SITTING PRETTY"

Warren G. Harding, president of the United States.

William Howard Taft, chief justice of the supreme court.

Barrett S. Brown, Warren, an assistant in the department of justice.

Miss Georgia Hopley, Bucyrus, prohibition enforcement agent for work among women.

H. P. Willey, Cambridge, head of law division of pension bureau.

This list does not include scores of Ohioans in minor jobs or many who have been helped in getting civil service appointments in the consular service.

There are also many former Ohioans accredited to other states holding important jobs.

POLICE PENSION BUDGET ALLOWED FOR THE MONTH

Members of the board of trustees of the Police Pension fund met at the safety building and allowed the pension budget for the month.

The amount of money paid out monthly to persons on the list is $97, according to Harry N. Osgood, secretary.

FACTORY MANAGER QUILTS DELPHOS

William Dauch, for 20 years manager of the Hinde & Dauch paper mill, here, has retired.

He is succeeded by George Laudick, timekeeper at the mill for ten years.

FINAL RUSH OF TAXPAYERS IS ON

"Beware of the Ides of March," was a warning whispered to Caesar. "Get under the wire with an income tax return by March 15," is the injunction of John Marsh, Lafayette, deputy internal revenue collector, who is receiving returns from the district.

There are only a few days more, he says and enjoins the public to get

In ahead of the last hour rush, failure to make a return subjects the delinquent to a severe penalty.

Marsh says many persons in past years have ignored the provision compelling them to make a return. The chances of their getting by this time, are not so good, as the government is searching them out, he asserts.

TOO MANY WIVES IS CHARGED

Cleveland Man Accused of Leading Double Life

CLEVELAND—(Associated Press)—Robert W. Burns, under arrest at Indianapolis on request of Cleveland detectives, who claim he has led a "double life" with two wives here for the past five months, was indicted by the grand jury for bigamy today.

According to detectives, Burns came here from New York five months ago and married the sister of a Cleveland attorney, altho he had another wife living here.

He is said to have lived with one wife at her home one day and spent the next day with the other wife at a downtown hotel, continually alternating and keeping each woman in ignorance of the other.

An officer left for Indianapolis today to bring Burns back.

DAVIS AGAIN TRIES TO STAY STRIKE

Makes Final Plea to Operators and Miners

URGES WAGE CONFERENCE

Walkout Will Cost Ohio Workers $250,000 a Week

WASHINGTON—(United Press)—Secretary of Labor Davis today made a final effort to bring about a national conference of coal operators and miners, which would avert the nation-wide coal strike, threatened for April 1.

The secretary issued a statement urging the operators and miners join in the conference, in accordance with the wishes of President Harding.

COST TO OHIO

COLUMBUS—(United Press)—The coal strike threatened for April 1, will cost Ohio miners about $250,000 a week in payment to the miners, G. W. Savage, division secretary and treasurer of the United Mine Workers estimated here today.

"About 50,000 union miners are employed in Ohio," Savage said. "Striking miners will receive $6 a week from the union during the strike. All of the 50,000 miners, however, will not be affected in case of a walkout. Several thousand will be allowed to remain on the job to keep the mines from deteriorating."

Savage said no plans had been made for picketing the mines.

"There probably will be no necessity for such action," he said. "We do not anticipate the operators will try to run the mines in event of a strike."

Savage said he did not believe the government would be called upon to intervene in case of a walkout.

SPLIT WIDENS

ST. LOUIS—(United Press)—Split between the Illinois coal miners and the international union on the question of a strike April 1, widened today.

Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, declared he would proceed with arrangements to hold a separate wage conference with Illinois operators unless high officials of the United Mine Workers furnish information he requested regarding possibility of the interstate conference.

Farrington said the reply of the international officers to a telegram he sent yesterday threatening to hold a separate conference was unsatisfactory.

CHURCHES JOIN IN DEMAND FOR TREATY RATIFICATION

NEW YORK—Four national religious organizations, representing Protestants, Catholics and Jews, today began a concerted movement to obtain the United States senate's immediate ratification without reservation of the treaties adopted at Washington.

The movement is being carried on by the Church Peace Union in cooperation with the World Peace Foundation of Boston, in letters and petitions mailed to 120,000 clergymen of the nation, urging them and their congregations to enlist the support of their senators. The petitions will be presented to President Harding and congress.

INSURANCE MEETING OPENS

CINCINNATI—Prominent speakers in the insurance field addressed 300 or more insurance men and women from Cincinnati, Dayton, Middletown and Hamilton, who attended the Southern Ohio Life Insurance Sales Congress here today.

Delegations of nearly 300 or more insurance men came from Dayton alone, according to Robert V. Gopalan, secretary of the Cincinnati Life Underwriters' Association.

Better Business Bureau Curbs Sale of Worthless Stocks

More than 100 cases of unfair methods and illegitimate business practice have been investigated by the Lima Better Business Bureau since its organization, James E. Morton, secretary, announced in a bulletin issued Thursday to members.

The bulletin shows that the bureau has done much to curb sale of blue sky stocks and other schemes to defraud unwary investors.

Among the alleged swindles exposed is that of a land firm which pretended to represent the government, in the sale of Indian lands in Oklahoma.

Inquiries made by the bureau at Washington and at Tulsa, Oklahoma, disclosed there are no Indian lands for sale. A clause in the contract, cleverly concealed, made the company the purchaser's agent only. What ever was paid them was a fee for seeking land for the buyer and did not apply on the sale.

Morton states that the bureau will continue to war on unscrupulous promoters who are seeking to defraud the public.

BODY OF JERRY DUGGAN EN ROUTE FROM PHOENIX, ARIZONA, TO HOME HERE

Message received from Phoenix, Ariz., Wednesday night conveyed the information to the family of Jerry Duggan, 762 N. Main-st., that Duggan's body was shipped from the southwest city Wednesday night.

Members of the family plan to have funeral services held Saturday morning, at St. Rose church.

Miss Mayme Duggan, a sister, who started for the southwest upon notification of the gradual sinking of her brother, was unable to reach Phoenix until after the body had left there. She was halted by a telegram and is on her way to Lima. It was expected she would reach Chicago, Thursday.

Miss Duggan will return to Lima and await arrival of the body here. Before leaving five months ago for the southwest, in the hopes of benefiting his health, Duggan was a city fireman at Central station.

one of the chief causes of constipation?

DID it ever occur to you that the cathartic you take to relieve constipation, is the cause of your trouble?

Yet when a number of doctors were discussing this almost universal complaint one of them said: "Probably one of the most frequent causes of constipation is the indiscriminate use of cathartics." For years physicians have tried to persuade people to give up laxatives and to eat corrective foods instead.

It is now known that Fleischmann's Yeast is a food which makes the use of cathartics unnecessary. Because of its freshness it helps the intestines eliminate waste matter.

People who are adding Fleischmann's Yeast to their daily diet find that their body functions are kept normal and regular. Eat 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast before or between meals every day. Place a standing order with your grocer. He will deliver Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily.

The quotation is taken from an important paper on the treatment of constipation by a well-known physician

MOTHER BATTLES FOR SON'S LIFE

Seeks Mrs. Harding's Aid to Save Condemned Youth
PRESIDENT'S WIFE GONE
Young Man is Sentenced to Die Tomorrow

WASHINGTON — (United Press) — "If I were hanged on the highest gallows, I know whose love would follow me still—
"Mother o'mine."
"If Mrs. Harding only knew; oh, if she only knew," sobbed Mrs. Mary Rice, New I ndon, Conn., today, lamenting that she had missed the president's wife by half an hour when she wanted to plead for executive clemency for her son, John McHenry, youthful murderer.
"She would have seen that my boy didn't die here tomorrow," cried the little grey-haired woman in black.
WOULD MORTGAGE SELF
"They want to hang him," she said, choking. "He's turned to God and is willing to give his life to His service. He'll help those he's harmed—pay what he can earn in prison."
McHenry has offered to mortgage himself to the widows and orphans of the two men he killed, if his sentence were commuted to life imprisonment, giving them all his earnings in prison. Should he live 40 years more, he estimated this would amount to $100,000.
Mrs. Rice spent a harrowing afternoon here yesterday. She sought aid from the Anthony club, an organization supposedly interested in abolition of capital punishment. She had to sit thru a lecture in travel, closing with a recitation of "They're hanging Danny Dever in the morning" poem.
VISITS WHITE HOUSE
Then she went to the White House to beg from Mrs. Harding help to save her son. Mrs. Harding had departed with the president for the south.
"I've still got a little hope," she remarked, "for I'll see the board of pardons today."
Attorneys for McHenry will go before the district court late this afternoon to ask that the prisoner's execution be deferred for a week so that he "may be prepared to meet his Maker."
District Attorney Gordon indicated he would not oppose a week's stay of execution.
DOOMED MAN REPRIEVED TO TESTIFY AGAINST ANOTHER
COLUMBUS — Upon representations of Common Pleas Judge Dan E. Cull and Assistant Prosecutor James T. Cassidy of Cleveland, that testimony of Sam Purpera, who was to have died in the electric chair at the Ohio penitentiary early tomorrow morning, is needed in the appeal case of Dominio Benigno, an appellant to be executed, Governor Davis granted Purpera who claims to be but 18 years old, a 60-day reprieve. Both Purpera and Benigno were convicted for participation in the Sly-Fanner payroll robbery and holdup at Cleveland.
The governor said justice to the state demanded that Purpera be reprieved in order that he be available as a possible witness in the appeal case so that the state be not deprived of evidence necessary to maintain Benigno's guilt.
Many Italian societies have urged the governor to commute Purpera's death sentence.

THE FOUR-POWER PACIFIC TREATY

First of a Series of "Current Event Discussions for Children" That Will Appear Weekly In The Lima News

"Four-Power Pacific treaty."
You've heard Dad say those four words many times, haven't you?
You've seen him look up from his newspaper and tell Mother this "four-power Pacific treaty" is before the United States Senate right now for ratification.
That sounded very hard, didn't it?
But it isn't really hard at all. It's just as simple as the school lessons you had in last year's grade—the ones that seem so easy now.
And if you read this article to the end, you'll know just as much about the four-power treaty and ratification as Dad or Mother—or your teacher!

WHAT IT IS
Now, first of all, what is the four-power treaty?
Suppose you had a sack of fine marbles—big green agates and clouded ones, too—and one of your friends had a baseball bat and another had a radio outfit and your sister had a set of water colors.
And suppose you all were jealous of each other and each wanted the things the others owned.

MACDONALD FARM GHOST REFUSES TO PERFORM FOR THE SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION
HALIFAX, N.S. — (United Press) — All is earthly at Antigonish today. The occult manifestations which resulted in a serious scientific expedition to the MacDonald farm have not been repeated for the benefit of Dr. Franklin Prince, who is leading the investigation.
As a result of the spook's non-appearance, Dr. Prince has invited the MacDonalds to come back to their farm, and, if possible, induce the ghost to perform.
The cattle and horses, which were mysteriously shifted in their stalls as part of the spook's peregrinations, have already been placed in position for another performance.
Mrs. MacDonald, however, is suffering from a shock as a result of the ghost's previous visits and it may be difficult to persuade her to return as bait for the investigator's spook trap.
The ghost story is beginning to lose some of its interest for the good people of Antigonish. In fact, the ghost has got the community's goat because of its failure to perform for Dr. Prince. It is now believed the Antigonish Institute of Scientific Research man will not succeed in attracting the spook from its fourth dimension lair.

SUIT TO RECOVER $46,500 FROM LIMA FIRM IS FILED

TOLEDO — (Special) — Suit for recovery of $46,500, alleged to be due on two notes executed August 18, 1920, has been filed in federal court here by the Donner Steel Co., Buffalo, against the Gramm-Bernstein Motor Truck Co., Lima, and M. Bernstein and B. A. Gramm, members of the firm.
One of the notes is for $21,500 and was due 60 days after August 18, 1920. The other note is for $25,000 and was to run for 90 days, the plaintiff alleges.

STUDENTS ARE ROUTED FROM BEDS BY FIRE

CLEVELAND — Fire in the fraternity house of the Sigma Nu, routed 126 students out of their beds today.
They found the house filled with smoke. The fire had started in the basement and burned thru the first floor and into the second.
The majority of the students were sleeping in the dormitory on the third floor. Loss was estimated at about $2,000.

INVITATION TO WOMEN
Any woman in the city who wishes to attend the luncheon to be given Saturday at the Hotel Argonne, by the League of Women Voters is cordially invited. Reservations may be secured from either Mrs. B. F. Welty or Mrs. A. E. Gale.

And besides that, suppose there might pick a fight with you just to take your things away.
Then you and your two friends and your sister might get together and make promises. You might say: "We're all fond of the things we own. We promise that not one of us will take anything away from another of us."
BAND TOGETHER
"And we promise that if these rough children try to take anything away from any one of the four of us all of us will keep them away. Each of us promises to protect all the rest of us."

Now, that's just what the four-power Pacific treaty is. For the problems of great nations aren't much different from the problems children meet every day.
The four-power Pacific treaty is an agreement or promise between four nations—the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France.
Our country has much trade or business in the Pacific Ocean. It owns islands there, too.
And Great Britain has much land there several rough children who

RAIN IS AGAIN DAY'S FORECAST

Despite the fact that prediction of rain for Thursday had failed of realization up to mid-morning, the forecaster had not changed his mind one whit and came thru for the current day with a further prediction of moisture.

Rain tonight and Friday and warmer tonight; colder in west portion Friday afternoon.
Not a tempting outlook, by any means; likewise no positive assurance that the prognosticator will meet up with any greater measure of success than he did in the plans outlined on Wednesday.

There is, for some unknown reason, keen delight for the average citizen when the weather forecaster falls down on the job of correctly outlining the sort of conditions to come.
The world loves and boasts a successful man. It has little time for failures. Placing the weatherman in the failure class isn't exactly fair. He can base his announcements only on prospects — fickle ones at that.

THE BLACKEST HOUR

TWENTY THOUSAND Americans committed suicide in 1921. This is the estimate by the Save-a-Life League, whose members work to prevent suicides.

Included in the list of those who took their own lives were 538 children and 500 war veterans.

The oldest suicide was 100 years old and the youngest 5.

EASY to explain the great increase in suicides, says Harry M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life League.

He blames it largely on disturbed economic conditions that have caused a tidal wave of business failures, unemployment and the personal suffering resulting from financial setbacks.

Also, "the growing complexity of our modern life, the feverish unrest, crimes, divorces, questionable dress, unhappy home relations, the decline of religious sentiment, and other things have caused deranged nerves, depression and less self-control."

The empty pocketbook is a leading cause of suicides, but not the only one. Last year 76 millionaires took their own lives.

MILLIONS of Americans—weary, disillusioned—are discouraged almost to desperation and distraction.

What they need is this powerful spiritual tonic—the knowledge that it is always blackest just before dawn.

Since May, 1920, Americans have gone thru a terrific earthquake of prices, fortune and general economics.

Many of us are saturated with the poison, self-pity.

Yet our grandparents, in the days following the Civil War, went thru exactly the same sort of hard times that we are going thru now. So did their grandparents, after the War of 1812.

The only difference is that they suffered more. We of this generation do not know what real hard times are. Get some old resident to tell you about the panic of 1873—"when a dollar would buy nearly anything, but almost no one had the dollar."

LIFE is more or less of a gamble, an endless chain of alternate losses and winnings. Many of us, in facing present problems, need some of the gambler's pluck, nerve and fatalism.

Any one who has ever known a professional gambler has heard him say: "I've been a long time in a run of hard luck. Things couldn't get much worse, so they're due for a change."

The gambler has truth behind him. A run of luck is always worst just before it changes.

The fever victim's temperature reaches its highest point, the crisis, just before there's a turn for the better.

Cheer up, folks. The night is black. But the clock is striking 1. Dawn—the sunrise of a bright new day—is close at hand.

Hold the fort just a little longer. Relief is near.

HARBINGERS OF SPRING

INCREASING evidence comes every day of the nearness of spring, officially. Altho we still have with us freezing conditions and occasional snow and snappy cold, there is a certain indefinable something about the temperature which indicates the transition from winter to spring.

The period of daylight is longer, the sun seems brighter and more inviting and its rays shed more warmth. Mocks of wild geese sweeping overhead to the northland is another unfailing sign that the grip of winter has been broken. The raucous cries piercing the air as they go on tirelessly day and night, is taken as a sign that winter has been officially retired!

The robins are returning, shrill voiced spring birds are here and the early morning hours are punctuated by their cheerful lays. The tree top chorus is being augmented steadily. The hardier birds have already returned and those less able to withstand the rigors of the north will soon be here again, for the long, hot summer months.

Material things, too, indicate a return of the most beautiful season of the year. Thoughts are turning to out of door activities, building plans are maturing and activities along this line long suspended will reopen all over the city.

There may be temporary setbacks in a weather way, but to all intents and purposes spring is here.

MULTIPLICATION

CHARLIE SOBB, of Birmingham, Alabama, is the proud father of 36 children.

Charlie is 61. Twelve of his children are by his third wife.

The telegraph wires do not say whether he is rich or poor. But it is a safe bet that Charlie, as he contemplates his enormous family, wouldn't change places with John D. Rockefeller. Children are the greatest wealth.

If all people kept up to Charlie Sobbs record, about 24,000,000 babies would be born in America this year. In 10 years, feeding the population would be an impossible problem.

The system called civilization is the enemy of large families.

What gets us is why the movie industry want to hire anybody by the year that kin clean up anything as big as the postoffice department in a few weeks. It seems like the hardest thing is being good without parading.

On a phone call from Fred Gooding, inviting me to take a constitutional to the Children's Home before breakfast. Declined the pleasure, but once up and so neat Saturday, took a bath.

Out and a cold, nasty morn; the bloom off the working girls' cheeks and the soft coal soot on mine own. Saluted by Mart Johnson, newly come from the California floods; Sir William Bayly waives in greeting, and Lew A. Larsen, of Ridgway, Iowa, drives by enroute to the neighborhood of the foreign colony, southward.

Met an old myrmidon friend, limping and nursing an arm, but in placidly passive submission, rushing to the Y. M. for his this day's beatings-up. So I invited myself into his company and to gloat over his torture. The bobbies and laddies pranced in gaily like pall-bearers at a banker's funeral. I stood the spume of the physical atelier until Joe Reed and Charles Bilstein started rattling their bones! then the human jazz grew awful, the staccato anatomical creaking, grating like an intial hardwood floor cooling off from an overheated furnace. Yet I saw George Landfair (aged 61) win the high jump at nine inches and an eighth, Mike Sullivan, 54, being second, at eight inches, one quarter. Then they started to run. They call it running but turtles would be odds-on favorites in any well laid book. So fearing encephalitis, I garnered the tears and shambled down the narrow iron stairway and out for air. On the steps they told me aeroplaning will be introduced to develop lung power for those over fifty.

In sad mood, to the office; but the afternoon's sport drowsed me like a pall, so over to the White and M'seur Henry gave me courage by a tale he had heard that G. H. Q. had excused City Treasurer C. Jones from further training; but Cap Wilcox, of the Lincoln park house, and George Tracewell, 59, are thought short of vitamins. May be necessary for them to do trapeze work extra twice a week.

So out seeking atmosphere, and across to the Lima Trust to find the Cashier and many others ill at home. And Emmett Curtin doing janitor work about the place. Held the broom for him as a patron, bought a loan. When Emmett asked how many children the man had, I learned that like the income tax there is heavy depreciation for kiddies.

Thence home to revise my dietetic calendar and eat Aspirin all evening to prevent bad dreams all night.

BIMINI

Bimini's merely a strip of sand,
Seven or eight miles long
Where the boats come in and the sea-
planes land,
Filled with a thirsty throng—
Then it's hot for the bar where the glasses clink
And the travelers stand in line and dunk
Till their knees give way and they slowly sink
Down to the floor in Bimini.

Bimini's less than an hour by air
Over the ocean loam,
And the planes are busily flying there,
And bringing the southerners home;
It has a bar and a large hotel,
But it isn't a place I'd care to dwell,
For hooch is all that they have to sell—
And there's plenty of that in Bimini.

Bimini's full of a boating crew
Loading up scotch and gin,
Then off they sail on the ocean blue
To smuggle their cargo in,
And the revenue cutters chase them some
And often capture their load of rum,
But there's always plenty more hooch to come
From the wet, wet shores of Bimini.

Bimini's a bar for the Florida coast,
The fabulous town it's goal,
Where Barleycorn is a bounteous host.

Who passes the flowing bowl;
And the drunks are carried out three by three—
To sober under the grapefruit tree—
I tell the story that's told to me,
For I never have been in Bimini!

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

WATER, AN "EYE-OPENER"

A glass of water before eating breakfast has long been proclaimed a great producer of good complexions. Many people know this result but few know the reason.

In the morning after a night's sleep one would naturally suppose that the stomach would be empty. But this organ is never wholly empty. At the time of arising in the morning the normal stomach contains about a fifth of a glass of fluid.

This is a residuum colored a faint blue, green or yellow, due to the presence of bile and other fluids which have passed from the bowel into the stomach during the night. Drinking a glass of water serves to stimulate the formation of fresh gastric fluid as well as the motor action of the stomach.

Consequently, this colored residue which is diluted by the water is passed quickly into the bowel, leaving normal gastric juice in the stomach ready to digest the food eaten at breakfast.

A further benefit obtained by the early morning drink is that it serves to cleanse and refresh not only the stomach but also the mouth, esophagus and the bowel.

Experiment has shown that water loses little time in its journey thru the body. The flushing out of excess mucous material which may

Big lasting suds

—they give the water a "soapy feel" all through

Put your hand in a tub of Rinso suds. You can feel that the water is actually soapy all through.

This is one reason why Rinso soaks clothes clean without hard rubbing.

Many bar soaps make frothy, foamy suds. But they disappear when you put the clothes into them, leaving the water as if soap had never touched it.

Rinso suds work down into every fold and fibre, loosening the dirt, without weakening a single thread. Just a light rubbing with dry Rinso on cuff edges, neck bands and the like, gets them clean—the dirt is so loosened.

Be sure to use enough Rinso to get the big lasting suds, that give the water a soapy feel all through.

Rinso is made by the largest soap makers in the world. It is sold everywhere. Get Rinso today—at grocery and department stores. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

It is a real whole wheat food and is ready-cooked and ready-to-eat. So easy to prepare a delicious, nourishing meal in a few minutes.

For a warm, nourishing meal heat two Biscuits in the oven to restore their crispness; pour hot milk over them, adding a little cream and a dash of salt. Delicious with sliced bananas, prunes, raisins or canned fruits.

CABLE DISCOVERY STIRS WELTY

Lima Men in Word War Over Ohio Canal Enabling Act

WELTY DEFENDS MEASURE

Socalled "Joker" in Bill, Isn't Waterway Benefits

Stirred by a statement from Washington accredited to Congressman John L. Cable, that the Lima men found a "joker" in the Enabling Act of Ohio providing for the rebuilding of our waterways, another Lima man, former Congressman B. F. Welty, Thursday posted a letter addressed to Cable, in which he "calls" the Lima representative.

"The bill was prepared," Welty's letter states, "by the best legal talent in Cincinnati and Toledo. After Congress passed an act authorizing surveys in Ohio for the purpose of connecting the Mississippi Valley with the lakes. Although this is the greatest waterway measure ever passed by a sovereign state, it is not considered perfect and hence friends of waterways welcome constructive criticism. But you do not give any remedy to eliminate the 'joker'."

TO MAKE WATERWAY USEFUL
Welty asserts in his letter that the reason for the act passed by the Ohio General Assembly was to make the proposed waterway more useful. "It is hoped," he adds, "that the Federal government will assist in rebuilding the Miami and Erie canal, on condition that the people along the route will build proper terminals to handle the traffic. It is a waste of money to build any waterway unless suitable terminals are constructed so long as the merchandise must be dumped on muddy banks."

"This is one reason why the boats left the Mississippi river and its tributaries. You will surely agree with me that if the Federal government will rebuild this canal, the people along the route should build the terminals. The existing policy of the past, in making waterway improvements in our country without building proper terminals, should cease; I am hoping that these terminals can be owned and controlled by the people rather than by special local interests along the waterway, as is now the case in New York, where the unloading charge is often as much as the freight. I understand in some instances the cost of unloading amounts to as much as $2 per ton, when bulky goods such as coal can be unloaded with modern unloading devices for from four to seven cents per ton."

In this section of the country, Welty asserts, the farmers are paying the railroads as much as $16.60 per ton to haul hay to market. They receive only $8 net for harvesting and marketing the same, the letter to Cable states. Welty expresses the opinion that anyone who would vote against the public building canal terminals if his saving on coal alone in one year would more than pay the tax to build them, would certainly be foolish.

VALUE OF WATERWAY
"Pittsburg," Welty points out, "because of its improved water channels is receiving coal from points 93 miles distant for 19 cents per ton, while New York state reports show that wheat can be delivered from Buffalo to New York on the Erie canal, a distance of 502 miles, for one and one-half cent per bushel."

Congress never moves unless the people first demand action, the Lima man declares. "This is especially

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Satisfying and cheap.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be quieted, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It is very easy to prepare, and there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified butter, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it. You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and disappear. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most restorative remedy for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Acute Indigestion For Over Two Years

"For over two years I suffered from acute indigestion," says Arthur L. Reeves, secretary of the Austburg Fuel & Light Company. "I was frequently calling in a physician but getting only temporary relief. Acting on the advice of a friend I took Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy regularly until the first package was used up. I then purchased another package of which I have taken only an occasional dose, for a real or fancied condition of acid stomach or heartburn. For seven months now I have been entirely free from any attack of acute indigestion and can eat anything I want with no fear of results in case of sour stomach, which is sometimes quite annoying, one dose will be found worth the price of the package. If the above statement of facts will help to call the attention of other sufferers to the merits of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy I shall be glad to have you use it." Signed Arthur L. Reeves.

They all say the same. For 75 cents you can get a large box of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy, a great physician's greatest stomach prescription. At Thompson's & Drug Stores, Hunter's & Stores and all good druggists. THE ORTH MEDICINE CO., East Liverpool, Ohio.—Adv.

Nothing was done until Congressman Thompson and Longworth of Ohio became interested at the request of friends of waterways."

JAP GIRL BECOMES INDEPENDENT

Great Numbers Are Now Self-Supporting

TOKIO — (Associated Press)—Many progressive young Japanese women aspire to become detectives, says the Yamato in a recent resume of activities of self-supporting women. On the average, of two dozen women apply at a certain local detective bureau each month seeking employment as "sluths." The bureau points with pride to two shining exponents of the profession, Miss Kakiko Nakahara and Miss Tsuruko Sato, thru whose efforts many difficult cases have been solved.

The majority of employed girls are in factories, about 66,500 of these working in Tokio. Out of 317 factories investigated by the City Social Bureau, in 28 the girls were found working more than 12 hours a day. The average wage is ¥25.16 a month.

SHORTAGE OF PHONE GIRLS
About 2,000 women make a living teaching "nagauta" singing to Japanese music of the shamisen. These make an income of about ¥100 a month. Bus conductors are those most noticeable to foreigners in Tokio. They number about 150. Others better educated gain the better positions in the company as office clerks or inspectors.

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bow complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

BRIGHTER DAY IS SEEN BY RUSSIA

Pins Faith in Genoa Parley for World Reunion

RELEASE FROM ISOLATION

U. S. Declines to Participate in Conference

(By EDWIN W. HOLLINGER)

MOSCOW — (United Press)—All classes in Russia, except the great mass of ignorant peasantry, look forward to the Genoa conference as the first step towards reunion with the outside world.

Merchants, college professors, army men, newspaper men—all see in the confab approaching, release from the isolation which has been imposed upon this country since 1917.

To official Russia—the Kremlin and the communist party about 300,000 strong—Genoa means achievement of a long cherished ambition, official recognition by the world at large. It means an opportunity to lay a real foundation of government. It is a mixed blessing, because it means abandonment for the time being, at least for the great idea of world revolution and a return to the principle of nationalism.

BETTER TIMES SEEN
The rest of Russia will benefit more than the politicians.

"It will at least give us some idea

as to 'what to expect,' a merchant said. "Genoa will show us whether commerce with the rest of the world may be expected on a large scale immediately."

"It is the beginning, I think, of better times," a college professor, a former social revolutionary, said. "It is true that obtaining credits will give the communist administration a new lease on life. But better a communist administration for a few years more and a return to world trade and a chance to begin rebuilding Russia than things as they are today."

"It will mean the selling of our country to foreigners," a former cadet remarked bitterly, "but there is not enough capital in Russia, so I do not see what else can be done. It hurts, but we must have outside help."

"A change in our government will follow the Genoa conference," said a newspaper man. "The allies will insist upon inclusion of a strong non-communist element in the administration."

"It cannot be worse," a barber said, and the aged Drotzky driver outside cracked his whip and echoed the sentiment, adding one of his own "Nichevo n'y znayou" (I know nothing whatever about it).

U. S. DECLINES
WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—Because it believes there has been an exclusion of questions which makes it not primarily an economic conference but "rather 'one of a political character' in which it 'could not helpfully participate,'" the American government has declined the invitation to take part in the international economic and financial conference to convene at Genoa next month.

The declaration was conveyed in a note yesterday from Secretary Hughes to Ambassador Ricci of Italy, who had presented the invitation extended by his government pursuant to the resolution adopted by the allied governments at the Cannes conference.

SOCIAL REALM QUIET AS WEEK CLOSE IS NEAR

THE end of the week is near once more and the social horizon looks dark even to the most penetrating. The week has been devoid of anything spectacular in the way of social happenings, but, of course, this is only to be expected during the quiet and inactive period, which characterizes the Lenten season.

Two events, nevertheless, of more than usual interest will mark Saturday afternoon. One is the luncheon to be given at the Hotel Argonne by the League of Women Voters. Miss Elizabeth Hauser, regional director of the fourth district of the National League of Women Voters, will be the speaker for the interesting event. She will have for her subject, "Women in Politics." A reception will be held at the Argonne from 12 to 12:30 o'clock in compliment to Miss Hauser. At 12:30 o'clock luncheon will be served. The affair will terminate the membership drive which is being conducted by the local League of Women Voters at the present time.

Another promising event for Saturday is the entertainment to be given in the parish house of Christ Episcopal church by the College Woman's Club for the benefit of the loan scholarship fund of the club. "Alice in Wonderland" will be presented by a group of members of the club under the direction of Miss Zella Foster and Miss Helen Meredith. Each member of the club has been extended the privilege of inviting one guest.

The Beta Gamma Kappa club met at the home of Miss Hope Perry of Washington-st. Wednesday evening. Bunch was the entertaining feature of the evening, in which Mrs. Charles Burkhardt held high score and Miss Geneva (Gardner) low. At a late hour the hostess, assisted by her sister, served a dainty luncheon.

Club members present included Misses Marguerite Brown, Marie Tobin, Madeline Conrad, Geneva Gardner, Bertha Miller and Hope Perry. Guests were Mrs. Charles Burkhardt, Mrs. Charles Burkhardt, Misses Lauretta Heinrich, Sarah Henschel, Lenora East and Helen Perry.

Club will meet next with Miss Winifred Arnold.

Miss Marie McClure, of N. McDonnell-st., was hostess to the members of the Lenore Guild, Tuesday Games and music were the diversions.

Miss Grace Jolley was chosen delegate to the state convention in Toledo. At a late hour the hostess served a delicious luncheon.

Members present included Misses Esther Brodbeck, Mildred Clark, Elsie Diken, Ruth Brodbeck, Donna Miller, Marie McClure, Grace Jolley, Ruth Brodbeck, Blossom Kent, Louise Zurechly, Hazel Stewart and Mrs. Adda Stucky.

Mrs. Clara Smith, of S. Main-st., welcomed the members of the Ramblers club at her home, Monday evening. Each was the diversion. Mrs. Busick holding high score and Mrs. Arthur Miller, second high. Mrs. Mumaugh held high score among the guests. At a late hour a dainty luncheon was served. Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Mumaugh were the only guests.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Weaver, of S. West st.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Baptist church will meet in the church parlors Friday at 2 p. m. Hostesses for the afternoon include Mrs. J. S. Nichols, Mrs. James Lewis, Miss Mary Bradley, Mrs. W. E. McMillen, Mrs. H. W. Snyder, Mrs. F. A. Seidell, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. George Nier, Mrs. H. W. Wynn, Mrs. M. Herring and Mrs. Elder.

Mrs. F. Royal Abbridge and the ladies' quartette followed with vocal numbers. Members of the society busied themselves in sewing for the Red Cross throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. C. C. Mosher, of W. Market-st., opened her home to the members of the Young Ladies' Aid Society of Market Street Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. L. Baumbarger, Mrs. Charles Curtis, Mrs. A. J. Amos, Mrs. W. C. Northrup, Mrs. Clayton M. Paine and Mrs. G. E. Williams.

Mrs. E. O. Steiner led in the devotionals and the afternoon was devoted to sewing for the Red Cross.

The next meeting of the society will be in the form of Guest Day, Tuesday, March 28th. Mrs. Frank Kommissar, of S. Coldest, will open her home for the occasion.

Final arrangement for the pageant, entitled, "At the End of the Rainbow," were completed at the meeting of the Executive Board and the Trustees of the Allen County Child Welfare association, Wednesday noon at the Lima club. Luncheon was served at 11:30 o'clock. The rehearsals for the pageant, which will be given the latter part of April for the benefit of the Child Welfare association, have started with Mrs. Harry Rosser, of Ada as director.

Mrs. Alfred Wenner, of S. Coldest, is entertaining the members of the Matinee Bridge club at 1 o'clock luncheon at the Hotel Argonne Friday.

SHE'LL BAKE PIE FOR PRESIDENT

Mrs. Mary Moore, 67, of Westfield, Ind., is the only woman thus far found who can bake a pie just as President Harding's grandmother made 'em. Her ability came to light when the wife of United States Senator Harry S. New addressed a group of Westfield women and told of the president's fondness for cranberry pie and his inability to find anyone to make them. Mrs. Moore says she'll make a pie for the president.

LEMON JUICE
A little lemon juice added to the prunes as they are being stewed adds a delightful tang to their flavor.

WASHING GLASS
A towel put in the bottom of the pan in which you wash out glass eliminates some of the danger of breakage. A little ammonia or baking soda added to the water gives it luster.

ADDS FLAVOR
A bit of thyme added to filling for a fowl will add a touch of flavor.

FRESH COCOANUT

Sister Mary Suggests Some Nourishing Uses

With fresh cocoanut again in market it behooves the housekeeper to find use for it in her cooking. Coconut is quite high in food value, containing much fat, some mineral salts and a small percentage of protein.

A made dish with cocoanut is consequently a very nourishing food and the rest of the meal should be planned with this in mind.

COCONUT SALAD
One-half fresh cocoanut, 2 sour apples, 1 cup celery, 2 small onions, 2 sweet green peppers, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, French dressing.

Grate cocoanut. Pare and chop apples. Chop celery. Mince onions. Remove seeds and white fiber from peppers and chop. Toss these ingredients with parsley until well mixed. Pour over 4 tablespoons French dressing. Put in a covered bowl and chill. Serve in a lettuce leaf.

COCONUT DROP COOKIES
Two eggs (whites), 1-2 cups sugar, 3-4 cup grated cocoanut, 1 tablespoon vanilla, 1-2 teaspoon salt.

Beat whites of eggs till stiff with 2 tablespoons water. Beat in sugar. Put in a double boiler over hot water. When luke warm add cocoanut, cornstarch and vanilla. Drop from a teaspoon on buttered and oiled baking sheet. Bake in a slow oven for twenty minutes.

APPLE AND COCONUT PIE
One cup grated cocoanut, 2 cups grated apples, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup sugar, pie dough.

Line a deep pie dish with pastry. Pare and grate enough apples to make two cups. Sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Stir in sugar. Put half the cocoanut in the bottom of the lined pie dish. Add apple mixture and bake ten minutes in a hot oven.

Reduce heat and finish baking. When almost done cover with remaining cocoanut and finish baking.

COCONUT PUDDING
One and one-half cups milk, 1-2 cup cream, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 3 eggs (whites), 1-2 cup grated cocoanut.

Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold milk, add sugar to remaining milk. Scald milk and when at the boiling point, stir in cornstarch and cook to a smooth paste. Beat whites of eggs to a stiff froth. Stir into milk mixture and cook three minutes. Add cocoanut. Chill and serve with boiled custard made with the yolks of the eggs.

COCONUT PIE
One small cocoanut, 2 cups milk, 3-4 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Grate cocoanut. Beat yolks of eggs with sugar, stir in cocoanut and stir in milk. Pour into a pan lined with pastry and bake in a slow oven for forty-five or fifty minutes. Beat whites of eggs till stiff and dry. Beat in sugar and spread over pie. Bake ten minutes in a moderate oven to brown the top. (Copyright, 1922.)

ORANGE SALAD
Cut the oranges in half between the stem and seed and loosen the pulp as with grapefruit. Dip each bit of the flesh into mayonnaise and return to its place. Add a little of the dressing and some ground nuts on top. Serve with sandwiches or tea cakes.

FINE CHINA
Are you having difficulty with the colors on your fine china? Are they fading and wearing off entirely? The remedy is to cease using such strong soap in your kitchen and to avoid using scalding water on the dishes.

ADD VANILLA
Add a few drops of vanilla to the coffee tomorrow morning. It gives rather a new and pleasing taste.

KEEP CIDER SWEET
When barreling cider put into each keg or barrel, eight large tablespoonsful of white mustard seed. This will retard the process of becoming hard or sour.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a girl 15 years old and have been reading your advice time with a boy two years my senior. He is a very nice boy and is always very kind to me. He has asked me to go steady company with him. I refused because I feel that I am too young. Do you think I did the right thing?

THINK you are a very wise and sensible girl, "Miss Flapper." It is a mistake for a young girl of your age to accept marked attentions from any young man. Even if you were older, it would not be right for you to give up all of your time to a man to whom you are not engaged. Many a girl has made this mistake and has simply jeopardized all of her other chances.

You see, "steady company" really means nothing. Often it places a girl in a difficult position. Perhaps she likes the man, but she does not care enough for him to marry him. Then she is in a quandary. She can't make up her mind to tell him that she does not care for him in the same way that he does for her. Perhaps he will be the sensible kind, who will realize that the girl does not care for him and in a gentlemanly way he will gradually lessen his attentions and the affair will end without any quarrel or harsh words.

Other cases are different. Often by "steady company" the advantages are all on the man's side. If he finds that he does not care as much for the girl as he, perhaps, thought he did, he is free to withdraw his attentions at any time and offer them elsewhere. With a girl it is different. It is she who must do the suffering. If she has been accepting the company of a certain young man continually, her other boy friends and acquaintances just naturally stop inviting her. Then when the young man ceases his attentions, she is usually at a loss for some time. It is often difficult for her to find her old place again in her circle of friends. They have assumed that she was engaged and have found new interests. It is sometimes necessary for her to make new friends, if she is to have any attentions from men.

You are wise in the step you have followed. Both you and the young man are too young now to become engaged and, doubtless, will be some time before he will be in a position to marry.

TO "A READER": My dear friend, a very excellent plan would be for you to acquaint yourself with the dictionary, where splendid and very comprehensive definitions are given for the words, of which you write. After understanding the words and their meanings, certainly it should not be a very difficult task to use them properly in sentences. Learn to do things for yourself and not ask the assistance of someone for something which you are perfectly capable of accomplishing for yourself.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) Will you kindly advise me if buttoned capes will be worn this summer? (2) How can I make a white dress and trim it with a sweater belt? (3) Are Junior Louis heels proper for dress wear for girls of 15 years? (4) What is the age and address of Pauline Valenti? (5) Is he married? If so, to whom?

(1) Not very extensively. (2) Wash with pure soap. Rinse thoroughly. Do not wring out, but squeeze the water out. Place in a clean pillowcase and hang on a line in the basement. If the sun is shining, hang outside. (3) Yes, the Junior Louis heels are being shown very extensively in the dress shops for girls of your age. (4) Valenti is about 26 years old. His address is 3129 Hollywood-blvd., Los Angeles, Cal. At the present time this popular movie idol is seeking a divorce from his wife, Jean Acker.

LEARN A WORD A DAY
TODAY'S word is ABDUCT. It's pronounced—ab-duct, with accent on second syllable.

It means to carry away by force to kidnap.

It comes from—Latin "abducere," to lead away.

Companion words—abductor, abduction.

It's used like this—"Gypsies frequently are accused of abducting children."

SPORT COATS STRAIGHT

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK—Sport coats, the sort that may be seen along the avenue and even venture into the afternoon, have taken to straight lines, exceedingly straight!

And, like this clever Claire model, they often boast a single button at the very throat, which loops into a cord buttonhole, and lets it go at that! They are designed for warmth, merely something swaggy and easy to look at.

Broccoli is the material most often used for these garments. The lining is a soft silk which darts very colorful.

Blue, a peculiar bright blue, which just escapes a tinge of green, is the tone used for the model shown. Its smartly tailored pockets are piped with white to match its edge. The large buttons which hold it at the throat are also white.

POLLY AND PAUL --AND PARIS

By ZOF BECKLEY.

PAUL COMES HOME

The concierge's homely visit was cheering, but when she had gone the little flat seemed unbearably lonely. Polly stood at the window for company, looking out into the courtyard that never failed to afford some interesting picture.

A knock at the door startled her. Normie: "Oh, I am so glad, dear! I was so almost burst into tears. 'I was so miserably alone.'"

"What's troubling you? I'll wager my new hat with the varnished cherries that Miss Violet Rand is gnawing her admirable fingernails and realizing she isn't the only one that can play her game."

"Oh, but Normie—she won this game all right! We—Monsieur Barry and I—went to the markets and prowled about all the whole blessed night. It was full morning when we realized it and came home—and there was Violet, waiting to pounce. Oh, it was awful—her insinuations and—and everything—"

"Vi's a pig, in some ways. Don't let her get to your nerves. Listen, dear, I've got to go out to Fontainebleau for a week, to paint. Why on earth don't you pack your carpetbag and come along?"

"Id love to, dear. Paul's not coming for days yet. I'll leave word with Mme. Dubois to forward mail and messages."

Norma and Polly stopped at an inn on the one street of Barbizon, the quaint village upon the skirts of the Forest of Fontainebleau, beloved of artists. Sunshine, rest, good food and Norma's cheerful company smoothed Polly into peace if not forgetfulness.

She was conscious of the fact that Paul, finishing his work, had come home a day earlier than he expected. To be sure he wired, but the message was forwarded by mail. e had burst merrily into the flat, envisioning his delighted wife waiting to greet him—only to be met by vacant rooms, and the concierge's explanation that Madame had gone with her friend to the country.

Disappointed and wet blanketed, he went down to his office. Among his accumulated mail was a note, violet scented, in a fashionable hand.

"If you have a moment, dear friend," wrote Violet, "do drop into my shack for a cup of tea and a chat-for! I've lots to tell you—and I promise to be interesting, despite your prudish resolutions to flout and neglect me!"

Alone and having nothing better to do, Paul straightened his desk, called a taxi and drove to Violet's house.

RENEWING CURTAINS

If the cretence curtain is faded after being washed from them and while still warm go over the design with wax crayons, lightly where the color was delicate and using more color where it was deeper. Then using a paper over them, iron them once more. The effect is quite like new.

SMART TIES

Quite the newest and smartest tie for the college or high school girl to wear with her tailored blouse is a man's four-in-hand.

VASES

With the season of flowers so near at hand one must begin to think of a supply of vases. Gather up all of those left from last year and in supplementing your supply be sure that you get ones of different sizes than those which you already have.

LIMIT TIME

Dough should not be allowed to remain long after it has become up, else the bread which results is liable to be sour.

FRESH FRUIT SALAD

Fresh strawberries add a delicious flavor to the fresh fruit salad with which you are using a whipped cream or sweet dressing.

BLUEBERRY STAIN

To remove a blueberry stain put the cloth over a bowl, pour boiling water over the stain and let remain until dry. The stain will disappear.

FRUITS

Fruits, in bunches, are being used on hats shown for spring. Occasionally one sees grapes, vivid tangerines and small peaches, all trimming the same hat.

GLOVES

The very smartest of gloves are those in light gray suede with flaring gauntlets of alternate strips of light and dark leather. Pearl buttons are used for fastenings.

FREE At All Dealers THIS WEEK

Your dealer will give you a 15-cent trial bottle of Palmolive Shampoo. Accept it for your own sake and watch how your hair improves.

We Blended Palm and Olive Oils To beautify your hair

This free 15-cent trial bottle contains ample quantity for one luxurious shampoo, no matter how heavy your hair. Use it and watch results.

See how soft it makes your hair, and how fluffy. Admire the attractive, well-groomed gloss.

Notice how clean it leaves your scalp, how all scurf and dandruff are completely removed. Ordinary shampooing doesn't get these results. They are due to palm and olive oils.

Softening cleansers
Olive oil possesses softening qualities which neutralize the drying effects of washing. Palm oil contributes body, richness and lasting qualities.

In combination they produce a thick, mild, profuse, penetrating lather which softens the scalp and reaches every root and hair cell.

This lather loosens the dandruff scales, dislodges and dissolves them, leaving the scalp and hair free to function healthfully.

Prevents Baldness
This thorough removal of dandruff, which doctors call seborrhea, is most necessary, as even the accumulation on healthy scalps injures the hair.

The dry, oily scales clog the roots of the hair, preventing proper nutrition. Soon the hair begins to fall out. Ordinary washing has little effect, often seeming to make the condition worse.

The blend of palm and olive oils you get in Palmolive softens and penetrates the scales, loosening the cap-like accumulation.

Gentle massage forces it into the tissues of the scalp, leaving it healthfully purged and clean.

Silky texture and satiny gloss
Such scientific shampooing is the basis of beauty, for it keeps both hair and scalp in perfect health.

It stimulates circulation, which carries proper nourishment to your hair. It regulates the minute oil glands which give your hair gloss and luster. Hair shampooed with Palmolive is neither brittle nor oily, but soft, glossy and silky.

Present the coupon at once and prove that these statements are true. One shampoo with the blend of palm and olive oils begins the transformation.

CHAPTER XX
"Dropped!" exclaimed Barry. Mrs. Tudor, you cannot mean it!"

"I was never more sane in my life, sergeant. Will you come this way?"

Altho she trembled in every limb she did not falter as she led the way into the now deserted dining room.

"Laurel's death is the deepest grief which life could ever bring to me, sergeant. But if this search is carried thru it will bring to us who are left, that which is worse than death itself, shame and disgrace!"

"But my dear Mrs. Tudor, it is a criminal case and the murderer must answer to the law, whether you desire it or not."

"You can stop the inquiry, even now if you will. Coroners can be bought off, sheriffs sent out of the country with sums that will make them independent for life, doctors can be bribed."

"Just a moment, Mrs. Tudor." Barry's voice was suddenly stern.

"What are you offering me for all this?"

She passed a whip of handkerchief across her lips and answered unsteadily:

"I have—have great influence at my disposal. If you like your work you can rise easily and quickly in your profession! You can be the commissioner of New York with the next administration if you wish, or high in the secret service."

"Stop!" he demanded. "If you were a man, Mrs. Tudor, you would not have dared utter those words to me! I would no more compound a felony than I would commit murder myself!"

She covered in her chair, and with a little moan stretched out her arms to him upon the table.

"Oh, will you not be merciful? I am nothing more to you?" she cried in a low, thrilling tone.

"Mrs. Tudor," Barry, too, bent across the table. "I will relieve your mind at once if you will only trust my word. This will, I hope, lighten your suffering. Your niece did not kill your daughter."

"She didn't?" Her voice was a mere toneless breath. "But the proof—"

"There is not an atom of proof against her," Barry spoke smoothly. "Not even the motive remains, for I can assure you that she has absolutely forgotten her old attachment for Lieutenant Cadmus; moreover, I have reason to believe that she is in love with another man."

"Another man?" Into Mrs. Tudor's dulled eyes there came a gleam of hope. "Why, sergeant, how can you know? It cannot be!"

"But I am convinced it is true, and I am sure that he loves her also. Miss Fay is utterly innocent of any complicity in the death of your daughter!"

Mrs. Tudor had miraculously recovered her poise and self-possession.

"I shall not ask you the name of the man," she smiled faintly. "You don't know what a burden you have lifted from my heart, sergeant Barry."

When I thought her guilty you will understand that I wanted to shield her at all costs."

"I know," Barry paused in the doorway. "We will forget every syllable of the conversation which has just taken place, Mrs. Tudor."

"Thank you!" She held out her hand with a pretty little gesture of gratitude. "You have proven a real friend. But since—since she is not guilty, who is? My Laurel hadn't an enemy in the world! Sergeant Barry, find me the guilty man!"

She disappeared on the veranda, and Barry made his way slowly toward the back door. As he reached

"We Don't Want Them Snooping Into This Business Just Yet."

(The back porch, still deeply engrossed in his meditations, Louise met him in a little flutter of renewed excitement.)

"If you please, sergeant Barry, Frank and the sheriff are down behind the garage. Frank called out to me to run and find you as quick as I could. He says he's got something to show you!"

He heard the garage. A subdued shout greeted him. The sheriff's voice was triumphant. "How's that for the thing the murdering wretch used to convey the carbon monoxide to the house in?"

A tomato plant, frame and all, was lying on its side in the soft loam, which had been heaped in a circular mound about a shallow hole. In it lay a large tin oil can, to which a length of thin but strong rubber tubing had been attached, and from both there came a stench of the same fumes which Barry had detected when he examined the gas mask.

He took the thing up and scrutinized it carefully, then looked into the faces of the two men.

The sound of footsteps crunching on the gravel path leading from the house made the sheriff turn and whisper fiercely:

"Here comes Clayton and the lame feller. Look sharp and get that can into the tool house back of the garage, Frank. We don't want them snooping into this business just yet."

Frank obeyed hastily. As he departed Barry asked:

"What is this bunch of Frank's that he is on the track of that fellow we've been looking for—the one who took his suit of clothes?"

"Well," the sheriff's tone was not enthusiastic—"he's come on a place, where the woods and the beach meet, and he says there are signs of a little fire having been built, and chicken bones lying about. The woods are thicker there than here. He heard something come creeping thru the bushes, but it must have seen him first, for it plucked off again."

"Frank probably stumbled on some picnic place," remarked Barry. "And that noise might have been a stray dog."

"Animals don't take off their clothes and try to burn 'em," retorted Louise. "He saw near the remains of that fire a charred bit of grayish flannel, and it has some bits or red cloth, just narrow strips, sewed onto it like the beginnings of letters or numbers."

"What's that?" A quick, incisive voice spoke so close to them that the darkness that the sheriff jumped.

It was Captain Warren's voice which had interrupted him, but the tones were quite unlike those which Barry had heard before. They had rasped out in stern command, and the sheriff gulped and started his story anew.

The five men were so deeply engrossed in their plans that none of them noted a slender, dark-clad little figure which hovered just beyond the wavering light of the lantern and which now drew closer.

"Let's go," suggested the captain briefly. "This is almost the time he usually sets forth for his depredations, isn't it?"

They agreed and finally set off, walking in single file down the path which led to the shore. Behind them a soft voice exclaimed aloud in bewilderment: "The cave! But how could the man have found it?"

The face which Fay had seen at the window on the night of her arrival rose once more before her—in which there had been something weirdly, hauntingly familiar. All at once she stiffened and stood as rigid as a statue. The next instant she was off like a flying shadow in the wake of the manhunters.

To Captain Warren, trailing along on his crutches at the rear of the party, there came an odd sense that someone was behind him, trailing him in turn. He paused. Nothing but shadows met his gaze. Cursing himself for a nervous, weak, incompetent, he toiled painfully after the others.

He had never felt his infirmity as poignantly before as on that night, when there was excitement and adventure abroad.

It humiliated him to have them stop and wait for him, and he replied almost surlily to their inquiries as to how he was standing the pace.

That he was not standing it well was painfully evident to himself. The prolonged, unaccustomed effort was telling upon him. When at last he reached the boat-shaped rock the rest were far ahead.

He sank down upon the rock, panting and racked with pain, and it was then that that sensation of someone near came to him once more with overwhelming force. He straightened himself to look about, when a small hand was laid timidly upon his shoulder and a soft voice spoke close to his ear.

"It's only I, captain."

"Fay! Miss Tudor!" he gasped. "What are you doing here?"

"I followed because I thought I could help," she replied. "I was—"

She was down by the garage when I heard you discussing your plans, and I could not avoid hearing. I think I know the place you are trying to find, but Frank is leading you all astray. Only myself and one other ever knew it, I think, until this man unaccountably stumbled upon it in his wanderings."

"What is it—some old deserted shack?" The captain was rapidly forgetting his pain and fatigue in awakening interest.

Fay shook her head with a sad little reminiscent smile.

"There isn't even the remains of a human habitation along the shore line here for miles," she spoke very softly. "It is a cave, Captain Warren; not really a cave you know, but just a natural fissure in the rock, upon which another has fallen, forming a roof. I don't suppose the whole thing is more than three feet wide and about six long. My brother and I discovered it by chance one day, and we swore we would never tell anybody about it. I can't imagine how this poor man discovered it, but it is the only shelter for miles."

"And you think he is there?"

"Where else could he be, if it was the remains of his fire which Frank found?" she shrugged her shoulders. "I know a short cut from this rock straight to it, and we can be there ages ahead of the rest if you feel strong enough to start."

The captain clipped his crutches beneath his armpits and pulled himself up with alacrity.

"You lead the way, Miss Tudor, and I'll follow."

THE CLOTH OF DREAMS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Instantly he forgot that he and Nancy were on an errand for the Fairy Queen.

Nick looked after Nancy, whom the gypsy woman was leading into the cave. Then he looked at the great chocolate cake that had been set out to cook.

Some way he felt that things were going all wrong.

Just then something dropped out of his pocket. It was the note the Magical Mushroom had left in the orchard.

"I'd better not lose that," thought Nick, and he stopped to pick it up.

But lo and behold, the writing had changed from blue to red! He opened it and read: "Don't go into the cave. The gypsy woman is Twelve Toes the Sorcerer."

"Nancy," he screamed. "Come back. Don't go in there. Come back and we'll start on our journey over the Seven Mountains."

back. Don't go in there. Come back and we'll start on our journey over the Seven Mountains."

But Nancy didn't hear. Only the gypsy woman turned and leered at him, a queer crooked smile.

No wonder the little girl didn't hear, for the cloth the woman had given her to wipe up the spilled icing was the Cloth of Dreams. Who held it forgot everything and believed whatever he was told.

"Nancy, Nancy!" Nick kept calling, running after his sister. He intended to rescue her if he could before it was too late.

"Come, come, little master," said the gypsy woman sweetly, stopping suddenly and holding out her hand. "The more the merrier. We'll have quite a little party."

Before he knew what was happening, she had taken Nick's hand and placed the other end of the cloth in that Nancy held, the Cloth of Dreams, you know, my dears, and that was the end of poor Nick or his memory. Instantly he forgot that he and Nancy were on an errand for the Fairy Queen. Forgotten were the Diddyevers, the Korsknots and the lost record of Longhead the Wiseman.

YOUTH—makes a hat—depends on it for its blending of shades, for its unlifted or delightfully drooped brim. In short, if youth is not there, the hat is ineffective. The little Oriental effect turban shown above is just one of a hundred different styles in smart sports hats, and there is such a mass of color, and adorable girlishness in one of these little silk hats with the all over embroidery that they are unusually popular.

One does not need to go farther than Bluem's Hat shop to find spring headwear that comes in daily from New York, made by designers of highest fame, and the majority of the models Paris dictated, at prices that are surprisingly reasonable. There is an indelible characteristic on each and every hat. You know that it is from Bluem's because it is so unusually distinctive.

HAMILTON MAY GET INTO COMIC HALL OF FAME

(By ESTHER WAGNER)
LLOYD HAMILTON is hereby nominated for a place in the hall of comic immortals. Chaplin, Lloyd and Keaton must crowd up a bit to give him room.

Hamilton has made 200 screen comedies, yet he has claimed little recognition as an artist.

He has remained in obscurity because he has been content to appear in poor stories, poorly directed. He lacked the aggressiveness to demand better story material and better direction.

In a recent conversation Harold Lloyd said that he had almost said his course when he demanded that he be allowed to discard a quasi-Chaplin make-up and appear in the dark-rimmed spectacles that are now his badge of distinction. He would either make that change, or quit making comedies. Having once started to do the kind of comedy he thought he could do best, he soon established himself as a leader in the profession.

Until recently there has been nothing distinctive about Hamilton's comedies. They were all alike, like so many grains of corn.

Then he made "Robinson Crusoe Limited." In that he made a direct appeal to the sympathy of the audience.

HAMILTON'S LATEST
 He has just completed his latest, "The Rainmaker." This comedy is not the equal of "The Kid," but it is better than some of Chaplin's earlier comedies and the equal of Lloyd's and Keaton's latest.

There is something whimsical, grotesque, in Hamilton's physique. He has natural little mannerisms that stir the risibilities. These are emphasized to good effect in "The Rainmaker."

LLOYD HAMILTON STARTING HIS EVENTFUL PULLMAN TRIP IN HIS LATEST COMEDY, "THE RAINMAKER."

Laura Hope Crews

LAURA HOPE CREWS heads the company of players in "Mr. Pim Passes By," the comedy by A. A. Milne, coming to the Fairport Opera House, Saturday matinee and night, March 11th. Miss Crews has long since established her reputation as one of the leading comedienne of the American stage. She possesses the quality supposed to be rare in womanhood, a genuine sense of humor. It is not by easy stages that she has reached her present eminence on the stage, but thru long and sound training. Born in San Francisco, the birthplace of so many fine American actors, she made her debut when a mere child in "Edith's Burglar," a little play that brought many actresses who later gained prominence, before the public. Then she had an exceptionally good training in the excellent stock companies of her native city. Miss Crews hasn't any idea how many parts she played in her girlhood days, but the range included everything from "bits" to Juliet. Her first appearance in the east was with the Murray Hill stock company in New York and one of her associates at that time was Frances Starr. Then came "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "What Happened to Jones" and "Merely Mary Ann" with Eleanor Robson. Since then she will be particularly recalled in "Ransom's Folly," "Zira," "The Great Divide" with Henry Miller in this country and London; "Polly Jordan," "The Faith Healer," "The Haves," "Mistress Page in Sir Herbert Tress production of 'A Midsummer Night's Dream,'" "The Phantom Rival," "The Saving Grace," "Tea for Three" and "Mr. Pim Passes By."

Stomach Troubles Are Due to Acidity

Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, nervousness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probable nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

One distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development of secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this pouring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisulphate of Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, nervousness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisulphate of Magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist, in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial direction. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisulphate of Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Adv.

INGROWN NAIL

Toe Nail Turns Out If You Toughen Skin

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic, manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

DYE FADED WRAP GIRLS! LEMONS SKIRT, DRESS IN WHITEN HANDS

DIAMOND DYES

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a rich, radiant color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hanging, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.—Adv.

Press the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten red, rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon lotion is far superior to glycerin and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

Through all the ages man has loved only the woman, but the love of the woman is ever for the love of the man.

She led the ace of woman intuition in defense of her home.

In the Last Card May Allison triumphs every previous triumph.

Stanley Goethals, four years old, takes a prominent part in this picture

The eternal triangle—the husband, the wife and the Other Man.

Suspense. Well you'll never guess the answer until you see the end.

It's a mystery story, more thrilling, gripping, mysterious than you have ever seen before.

120 REGISTER FOR TRY-OUTS ON CENTRAL HIGH 1922 FOOTBALL ELEVEN

CENTRAL High school's headquarters for signing of material for the 1922 football team resembles an Irish picnic these days. The boys are stepping forward in flocks and the registration blackboards are as full of names as were police blotters in the halcyon days.

A total of 120 have so far put in their applications, it was estimated Thursday, and they are still coming, reports Donald Feltner, captain of the 1922 eleven.

Very few of the regular members of the 1921 squad will be lost to local scholastic football this year because of graduation. Among the latter are 17 letter men, including:

Captain Pettier, Taylor, Drew, Calhoun, Poling, halves; Lones, Stanyer, fullbacks; Tinker, quarterback; Seely and Porter, ends; Miricic, Langley, Betz, Bream, guards; Hammock, tackle; Swisher and Blattner, center.

Other regulars who are not letter men are: Michael and Morse, quarterbacks; King and Pew, ends; Collins and Sanders, tackles; Bowman, center. All these men are experienced, each having had from one to three years on the grid.

Judging by the qualities of some of the raw material listed as try-outs, the vets will have a stiff tussle to retain their jobs, for among the recruits are some heavy men ranging from 180 to 190 pounds. They should make good linemen. Following is the list of aspirants, including freshmen, freshmen-to-be, sophomores and a few juniors.

Guards—Fackler, Hughes, Cratty, Clapper, Lathrop, Wise, Lovett, Hittle, Thew, Barnett.

Tackles—Mep, Hawisher, Garmhausen, VonBlon,

Stone, Hardin, Frysinger, Weaver, Sheppard, Parson, Cops, Daw, Ebling, Ewing, R. Hawisher, Barut, Simon, Piper, Maxwell, Chaney.

Center—Churchill, Harrod, Miller, Bowsher, Fensler, Shoellin, Cox, Anderson, Mare, Euler.

Quarter—Lingine, Hunter, Thomas, Wetherel, Wallace, Truesdale.

Halves—S. Cox, Hight, Current, Heller, Craviston, Cohn, Pence, Schell, VanHorn, Dexter, Simpson, Lerch, Dale, Houff, Kesler, Thomas, Welby, Spear, Townsend.

Fullback—McEldorray, Plummer, McDonald, Groves, Rotreff, Sands, Adams.

Ends—Doan, Hollister, Cook, Clay, Harper, Foote, Cowles, Bransfield, Otmur, Dirk, Kotchker, Piper, Johnson, Bowers, Stepleton, Roush, Rhodes.

As soon as the weather permits, Coach O. J. Detrick will call spring practice which is designed to instill into the new men the first principles of the game. Rudimentary drills will occupy most of the time, and by the time the curtain rings down on initial practice Detrick will be possessed of knowledge of the capabilities of the warriors.

Central should have a team this year surpassing any the institution has ever placed on the field.

An innovation in training will be introduced in summer with the establishment of a camp for the benefit of the gridlers. It will be opened a few weeks before the claxon call of the school bell for the 1922-23 term has sounded for the first time.

The new camp Lima Boy scouts will establish at Lake St. Marys was cited, and it is possible Coach Detrick's boys may anchor there for the conditioning process.

SPORT CORES

LUNDGREN RETAINS SINGLES LEAD AT TOLEDO

Chicagoans Head Five Men A. B. C. List

TOLEDO—Indications early today were that this would be another day of mediocre bowling in the American Bowling Congress tournament. None of the five men teams last night showed anything, only one change taking place in the first ten.

The Beaumont Hotel five of Green Bay, Wis., rolled into fifth place with 2780. Teams from Grand Rapids, Detroit, St. Louis, Toledo, Cincinnati and other cities competed.

WALTER LUNDGREN

WALTER LUNDGREN, who broke a world bowling record when he topped over 720 in the singles at Toledo tournament of the American Bowling Congress, is one of Chicago's best bowlers.

Lundgren rolls a comparatively low ball with a wide hook that finds the 1-3 pocket with uncanny regularity.

In hanging up his record of 729, which bettered the previous mark of 718 made by Harry Cavan of Pittsburgh at Toledo in 1919, Lundgren came thru with scores of 224, 232, 263.

Lundgren made 25 strikes and seven spares in the three games. He had two splits, picking up one of them.

The first doubles squad went on the alleys this morning at 9 o'clock. The second shift was scheduled for 10:40 with the individuals an hour later in each instance. Grand Rapids entries were in the majority in both classes. The Champion Spark Plug Five, one of Toledo's best, is on the first shift of five-men teams tonight. Others on that shift are from Indianapolis, Joliet, Sandusky and Lima, Ohio.

The second squad is made up of six teams from Milwaukee, two from Cincinnati, two from Chicago and one each from Toledo, Lima, Detroit, Columbus, St. Louis and Joliet.

The annual meeting of the A. B. C. will be held tomorrow when the city for holding the next tournament is to be selected. Grand Rapids and Milwaukee are seeking the meet.

Following are the standings:

FIVE-MEN:

Hamilton Club Reds, Chicago, 2902; Brooks Oil Company, Cleveland, 2862; Petersons, St. Louis, 2802; Smith's Arcade, Milwaukee, 2790; Beaumont Hotel, Green Bay, Wis., 2780.

TWO-MEN:

F. Peterson-F. Zubin, Chicago, 1248; O. Stein, Jr.-H. Rose, St. Louis, 1235; H. Pickle-R. Rudnick, Chicago, 1231; F. Smith-J. Smith, Milwaukee, 1214; F. Grebe-A. Neilson, Chicago, 1207.

INDIVIDUALS:

W. Lundgren, Chicago, 729; T. Drolshagen, Detroit, 676; J. Smith, Milwaukee, 667; F. Masson, St. Louis, 666; A. Reich, Beaver Falls, Pa., 660.

ALL EVENTS:

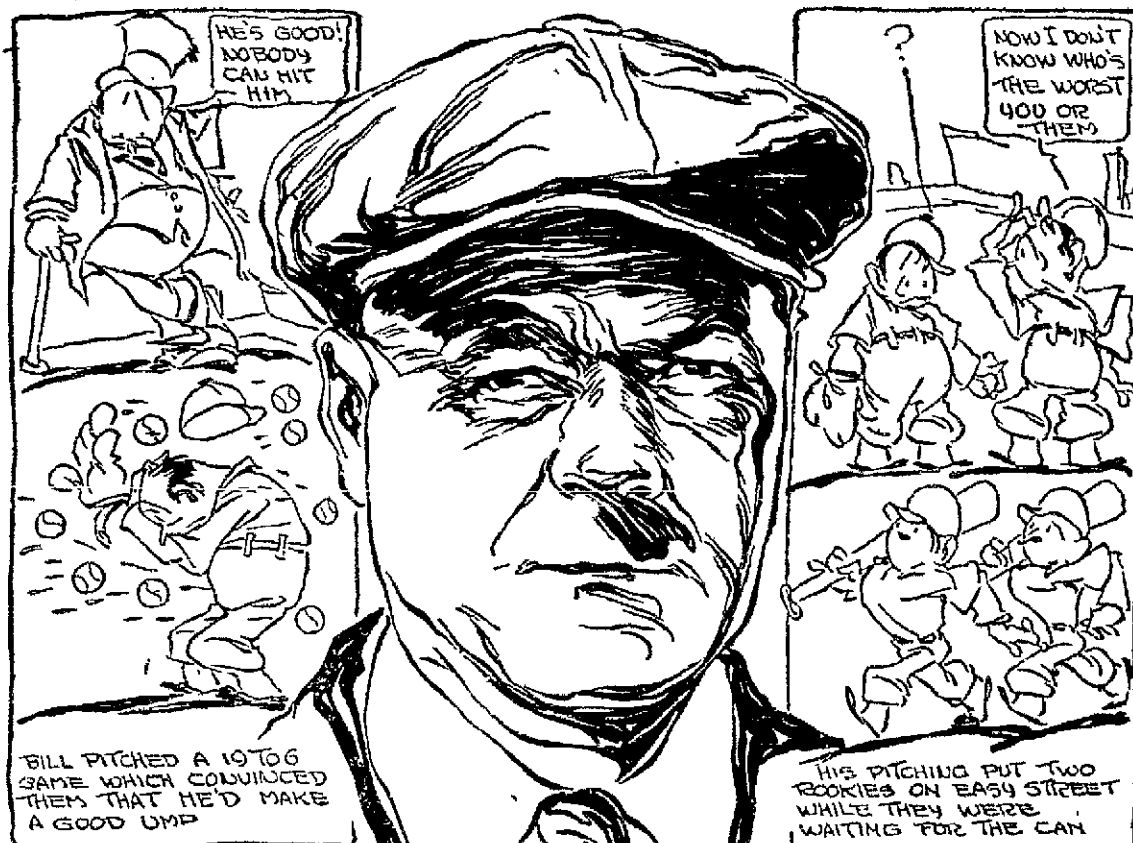

P. Young, Akron, 1844; O. Stein, St. Louis, 1842; E. Peterson, Chicago, 1840; J. J. Barker, Chicago, 1824; W. Lundgren, Chicago, 1816.

STIGALL IN

The Lima Gym club received a telegram Wednesday night from Little Arthur Stigall, the Baltimore, Maryland, colored boxer, that he accepts the proposition of fighting Indian Horner on the card here March 31.

Since Delphos fans have promised the club they will come over 300 strong in ever their local pride, Speck Kessler, is put on the card with Red Young for a middleweight battle, negotiations for his services are being re-opened after a considerable lapse.

"BUSHERS" CAUSED DINNEEN TO FORSAKE THE MOUND

BY BILLY EVANS

"HOW did you ever happen to be an umpire?"

That is a question that is asked at a tough ball game.

At such times it is hard for a sane individual to figure out why anyone should want to be an umpire.

Umpiring isn't such a bad job after all, yet I seriously doubt if anyone is in love with the job, as they say.

Like all other positions the pay check carries the real thrill. It causes you to get case hardened to many of the indignities which come your way.

I don't believe any youngster ever had as his big ambition the desire to become a major league umpire. Some critics say umpires are born, not made.

However, there is always a reason for everything, and back of the career of every major league umpire is an unusual story.

I always smile when I hear Bill Dinneen tell why he started umpiring. According to Bill he was literally driven to it. I will let him tell it.

JUNIORS WIN THIRD

The third round of St. Rose class tournament went to the juniors Wednesday when they defeated the eighth grade quintet 59 to 10. McNamara, junior center, scored ten field goals. The fourth round Thursday drew together freshmen and juniors for the championship, the two fires being the only undefeated teams of the tourney.

Four Bouts Lined Up

Three bouts—maybe four—will be fought by Featherweight Jake Gross within the next month if plans being formulated by his manager, Earl Smith, materialize.

The first will be a return engagement at Kokomo, Ind., March 17, when he will scrap either Red McEldorray or Eddie Ketchell of Toledo. The American Legion will put it on.

The second is a bout on the Lima Gym club card here March 31. Another fight at Kokomo April 10 under the auspices of the Eagles. No opponent has been selected for Gross for the latter bout, but the match-makers want to bring Johnny Dundee there. Smith was informed. Among these fights may be wedged a bout with Jack Wolfe, who beat Alvie Miller a week ago at Marion April 3.

Smith left for Toledo Thursday with Ralph Hardesty to bowl in the doubles and singles of the A. B. C. and carried contract blanks with him to sign Patsy Dugan for the battle here on the 31st.

Clown Fest Coming

Circus is coming to Lima! Physical Director I. G. Maxwell of the Y. M. C. A., says so. It will be "Ringlingback and Hagen Bros." the same mammoth company that staged a like event in 1921. The dates will be in May.

Burlesque athletics with clowns and other requisites will be the main attraction at the annual "Y" event. Pageantry will be a feature.

LIKE GOOD BOOKS, GOOD MUSIC HAS ITS EFFECT ON THE CHILDREN. THEY WOULD ENJOY A BRUNSWICK THE MAUS PIANO CO.

MUTT AND JEFF—EVERYTHING IS MERRY IN THE SOUTHERN TRAINING CAMPS—

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By McMANI

SHORT SHAVINGS

Walt DeKalb tells of a married man whose wife had long coveted a sealskin coat.

"She wrote him a scented note, signed 'Cutie,' said Walt. 'The missive told him to keep an appointment that night. Hubby got it just after meeting a man from Scotland. All writing looked alike to him just then. I've got to attend a director's meeting,' he told the wife, before leaving home that night.

"Maybe that is why she bought a $250 sealskin so late in the season."

Bob Shaw, manager of the Orpheum, says it almost breaks his heart to refuse help to a panhandler on the street. He saw one preparing to stop him. With rare presence of mind he turned to the friend with whom he was walking and said "I'm broke. Could you lend me $1?"

Serge Roekler, drummer in an orchestra, had something in a bottle to make his hair lay flat. "I think some humorist put glue in the bottle," he says. "My hair lies so flat I can't get it up."

W. E. Booth, of the water works department, collected a tray of victuals in a cafeteria and placed the tray on the edge of the coffee counter. It slipped. Others looked at the floor and waited for crash that never came. "The entire contents of the tray," reports a friend, "slipped into an umbrella he was carrying hooked on his arm."

W. J. Dempster, former president of council, figuring out his income tax report, was puzzled until he found his calendar contained two leaves for May. "The difficulty," he says "was that I kept counting up 56 weeks in 1921."
